USDA, EPA Propose A Plan For National Nutrient Management

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The USDA and U.S. Environmental Protection Agency have issued a proposal for cleaning up the nation's waterways through encouraging states to use existing regulations to encourage or force livestock producers to develop comprehensive nutrient management plans.

Though dated Sept. 11, the 41-page document was formally issued Sept. 18 as the Draft Unified National Strategy for Animal Feeding Operations (AFOs).

There is a 120-day public comment period for the document that, in and of itself, does not propose any additional regulations.

It does, however, perpetuate the belief that nutrients eminating from livestock operations and getting into waterways (surface and ground waters) constitute threats to public health, such as linking phosphorus and pfisteria.

The proposal is called "unified" because it is a joint proposal from the two federal agencies — USDA and EPA.

The entire document is available on the Internet at http://www.nhq.nrcs.usda.gove/cleanwater/afo or http://www.epa.gov/owm/afostrat.htm.

If those addresses fail, it can be found by using www.nrcs.usda gov and then clicking on at the icon of a green box with a brown stripe, labeled Draft EPA strategy.

A satellite transmission providing a general overview of the proposal was made Sept. 18 from Washington D.C. in order to reach the nation's various USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service offices with downlink capabilities.

In a note at the beginning of the document, it states, "This document presents USDA and EPA's strategies for addressing AFOS

New Direction Holsteins Exhibit Grand Champion Of State Fall Show

VERNON ACHENBACH JR.
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Tom McCauley of Elizabethtown and Fred Strouse of Centre Hall on Tuesday exhibited both the grand and reserve grand champions of the Pennsylvania Holstein Championship show, held at the state Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg in conjunction with the Pennsylvania All-American Dairy Show (PAADS).

While it was the first grand championship earned during the Fall Championship by McCauley and Strouse, the partnership's animals won the state Holstein organization's spring show and have done well at other shows this year.

McCauley and Strouse exhibit under the New Direction Holsteins breeder/exhibitor name. New Direction Holsteins is an offshoot of the Em-Tran embyo transfer business in Elizabethtown started by Tom's father Alan.

In recent years Tom has gone into partnership in co-owning and showing some Holsteins with Strouse and others.

Their 4-year-old Dandyland Starbuck Maggy, a Duregal Astre Starbuck daughter bred by Dandyland Farm, was named senior and grand champion of the fall championship. As a result of her placing in the fall show she earned the 1998 All-Pennsylvania honors for her age class.

The All-Pennsylvania award system is based on placings awarded animals exhibited in Pennsylvania Holsteins Association shows during the year. The fall championship is the year-end show.

McCauley and Strouse's senior 3-year-old, E-Ricks Stardust Taz, a Browndale Stardust daughter bred by E Richard Gednarski, was named reserve senior and reserve grand champion of the show.

Taz also earned an All-Pennsylvania age-class win, tying for the honor with Globe-Run AHMS Mo Broker, owned by John HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — Dandyland Starbuck Maggy, the 4-year-old grand champion of the state Holstein Fall Championship, owned by Tom McCauley of Elizabethtown and Fred Strouse of Centre Hall, also was named grand champion of the Eastern Regional Holstein Show on Thursday at the state Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg.

The same day, she went on to become the supreme champion of the 35th Pennsylvania All American Dairy Show (PAADS), competing against the grand champions of the other five national and regional dairy breed shows.

Reports and results of the national and regional shows of the 35th PAADS are to be published in the next issue of Lancaster Farming.

Duroc Boar, Spot Gilt Supreme At Maryland State Fair

KAREN BUTLER
Maryland Correspondent

TIMONIUM, Md. – A Duroc boar, "Nathan 13-1", was named supreme champion boar at the swine show here at the state fairgrounds in Timonium. The show was held during the 117th annual Maryland State fair.

Dr. Kim Brock, from Stillwater, Oklahoma, judged the swine show. Dr. Brock is head of the swine department at Oklahoma State University.

The March boar was bred by Holloway Genetics of Glen Rock, Pennsylvania, and is co-owned by Holloway Genetics and Buffalo Valley Farm, Seven Valleys.

Dave Holloway, Holloway Genetics, and the boar is out of a litter produced by a gilt that won grand champion Duroc gilt honors at the Pennsylvania Farm Show this year. The boar was grand champion Duroc boar, and his female littermate was grand champion Duroc female here at the State fair.

The supreme champion female was the grand champion Spot gilt, a February gilt owned and exhibited by Rural Rhythm Farm of Dayton in Howard County, Maryland.

Judge Brock said he like the teat quality, shape up-top, muscling, soundness, and overall feminity of the Spot gilt.

An electronic carcass class was held at the fair this year for the second time. An entry from Innerst's Berkshires, Red Lion, Pennsylvania, took top honors in the class. The supreme champion electronic carcass barrow was a February Hampshire barrow. The barrow had a loin eye of 6.5 square inches, .37 inches of backfat at the 19th rib, and computed into 58% lean. The examination is done using ultrasound equipment.

The supreme champion market barrow was a heavyweight Berkshire exhibited by Abby Johnson of Montgomery County, Maryland.

The supreme champion pair of market barrows was a pair of heavyweight Duroc barrows exhibited by Kenny and Connie Bauer, KC Farms, of Walkerville, Maryland.

Ricky Bauer, superintendent of the swine division a the fair, explained that the ideal market animal is the animal that has the most percent of lean muscle. The animal with the most lean muscle will yield the most productive carcass.

USDA-MO Dept Ag Market News

DAILY NATIONAL GRAIN SUMMARY

Wheat traded mostly lower with pressure stemming from profit taking on the Board. However, excellent overnight export sales tempered de- clines. Corn and soybean bids were lower on fund selling, lack of new foreign demand, and harvest pressure from corn. Wheat mostly 1 to 10 cents lower except Portland 5 cents higher. Corn 1 to 2 cents lower. Sorghum 1 cent lower. Soybeans 2 to 8 cents lower. Rains have stopped most places in the Corn belt and farmers are back in the fields. Good yields have been reported for corn but storage is still a big problem. There is still some old crop beans being cleaned out in preparation for new crop.

"Best Kept Secret In The Poultry Business"

L.B.WHITE®

Infraconic Heat Efficiency

By maximizing the conversion of gas to radiant energy, the L.B. White Infraconic gives you more heat for your fuel dollar as well as a broader area of heat output and more consistent temperature at bird level. With more consistent temperatures and a larger 'comfort zone', the infraconic helps your birds grow by keeping them warm, making it easier for them to find feed and water, and keeping the litter drier

Lightweight and easy to install, the Infraconic is also simple to clean and maintain. And because the Infraconic hangs higher than other brooders, it's easier to work around during production or clean out.

L.B. White Infraconic brooders are available in 17,100 and 34,200 Btuh outputs, as well as your choice of LP or natural gas.

Winter Is Soon Here, Are Your Heaters Ready?

Flexible and economical heat:
•Models to meet different needs, with heat outputs from 20,000 to 325,000 Btuh, plus variable outputs for greater heating efficiency.
•All models are available for use with propane or natural gas
•Compact profiles and indoor or outdoor mounting capability for easy installation and efficient use of space.
Reliable and durable:
•Sentinel System III advanced diagnostic controls monitor all primary heater functions for dependable worry-free operation.
•Sentinel System III diagnostics pinpoint potential heater interruptions quickly and accurately to save time and money.
•High quality components and solid case construction washdowns and years of dependable service in corrosive environments

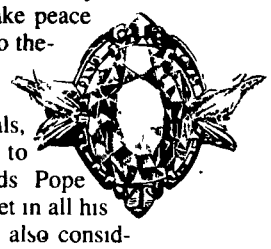
The OLD FARMER'S THIS WEEK WITH ALMANAC

SEPT. 28–OCT. 4, 1998

YOM KIPPUR, SEPT. 30.

PEACEFUL SAPPHIRE

September's birthstone, the sapphire, was dedicated to Apollo, perhaps for its heavenly blue color or possibly for its extreme hardness, second only to the diamond. St. Jerome insisted that anyone wearing a sapphire could make peace with his enemies, however, so theoretically, Apollo wouldn't have needed the gem to wear into battle. For us mere mortals, the sapphire was supposed to help gain favor with the gods Pope Innocent II had these stones set in all his bishops' rings The gem was also considered a hedge against unchastity and evil.



Virtue is like a rich stone — best plain set.

– Francis Bacon

TIP OF THE WEEK

☞ Mark your calendar to replace watch batteries annually.

CAPE BRETON CREAMED CABBAGE

1 small cabbage
salt and pepper, to taste
2 tablespoons vinegar
2 tablespoons butter
1 egg
1 cup cream

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Cut up cabbage and steam until tender (under 10 minutes). Drain, then season with salt, pepper, vinegar, and butter. Beat egg and cream, and stir into the cabbage mixture, reheating briefly to just warm. Do not boil!

The OLD FARMER'S WEATHER PROVERBS

If St.Michael (Sept. 29) brings many acorns, Christmas will cover the fields with snow.

Much rain in October, much wind in December.

Warm October, cold February.

OPINION

All Roads Lead To Harrisburg

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is set for September 30 to October 5 at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg. This exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef, cattle, swine, sheep, and horse exhibits.

1998 has been designed as the year of the horse so exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the horse. But all the other livestock species receive plenty of international attention too. Over 4,400 entries are expected for the show which offers a record $200,000 in premiums. A stockmen's trade show with commercial exhibits are part of the over-all livestock show, and a tantalizing assortment of foods prepared by various Pennsylvania commodity groups will at to the reasons why you should visit the show.

Draft Horse Hitch shows are featured. And all the major breed shows bring together in one place the best of the best.

We recognize the PLA youth winners Travis Moyer, Heather Bankert, Paul Kitzmiller, and Heidi Svonavec, and Jim Watkins, the new Hall of Fame winner.

If you have any interest in the business of livestock farming, this is an event you will not want to miss. All roads lead to Harrisburg for livestock producers starting next Wednesday.

To Plan Fall Alfalfa Harvest

Fall is here and the annual concerns of management of alfalfa fields during the fall are upon us, according to Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Extension Agronomy Agent. When should alfalfa be harvested? What effect will harvesting now have on the life of the stand? These are a couple of the questions being asked each fall by farmers. During September and early October weather conditions remain favorable for alfalfa growth.

In addition, fields are usually tall enough to harvest. However, when it comes time to harvest it is important to understand what the benefits and risks are to the crop if it is harvsted. One of the key considerations is the impact that a fall harvest will have on winter survival.

To Understand Fall Growth of Alfalfa

The shorting day length and cooler temperatures tell the winter hardy alfalfa varieties to develop cold resistance. During the hardening process, plants reduce top growth and increase the amounts of carbohydrates they store in the roots.

This carbohydrate storage is important. In the spring, the carbohydrates stored in the roots are responsible for the first 6 inches of new growth. After this initial growth, photosynthesis will produce the needed carbohydrates. Winter survival and spring re growth is dependent on having adequate amounts of carbohydrates stored by the plant in the fall.

Up to 50 percent of the stored carbohydrates are used during the winter by the plant. Harvesting alfalfa at the wrong time in the fall may cause the plant to use some of the stored carbohydrates to make new fall re growth reducing the amount for winter survival and spring growth

To Manage Fall Alfalfa

New alfalfa varieties have helped to eliminate some of the winter kill problem, according to Robert Anderson, Lancaster County Agronomy Agent. Good management can improve winter survival of alfalfa.

If the alfalfa field has come into bloom during September or early October, it should be harvested. Normally, alfalfa will begin new growth after reaching full bloom regardless of being harvested or not. Even if harvest is delayed beyond full bloom, it will do little to keep stored carbohydrates in the roots. Newer stands are less susceptible to winter injury following fall harvest than older stands.

It is now felt that the length of time since the previous harvest is more important than the actual date of fall harvest. If it has been at least 45 days since the last harvest, further delay of harvest is not necessary. Other management considerations to help improve winter survival of alfalfa include maintaining good soil fertility and pH which will reduce stress and planting the most disease resistance variety with high yield potential.

Feather Prof.'s Footnote: "A hundred years from now it will not matter what my bank account was, the type of house I lived in or the kind of car I drove. But the world may be different because I was important in the life of a child."

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

TWELVE STONES
September 27, 1998

Background Scripture:
Joshua 4:1-3, 8, 10, 11, 20-24
Devotional Reading:
Psalms 78:1-8

In my youth, it seemed to me that the church I attended spent an inordinate amount of time in the past. As a congregation, I thought we were constantly remembering a lot of things that had happened a long time ago. I wasn't against memorials and remembrances per se, but I was living in the here and now and wanted help with the present.

In those days I was rather disdainful of anything old; architecture, art, music, habits, customs, and so forth. I rather imagine that my attitude then was not unique and my complaint has been raised by countless others. In reflection, I believe that I was wrong in thinking that we dwelt too much in the past. If my church erred, it was not in memorializing the past, but in failing to help its youth understand the value of the past for the present and future.

My dictionary gives three definitions for the work "memorial" and the first, "something designed to preserve the memory of a person or event," is the one most applicable in Joshua 4:7. God intends for the twelve stones from the Jordan River to be a "sign" to preserve the memory of that great event when the people of Israel were enabled by God to cross the Jordan River, an event that should not be forgotten: So, "..when your children ask in time to Come, "What do these stones mean to you?" Then you shall tell them that the waters of the Jordan were cut off before the ark of the covenant of the Lord..." (4:6, 7).

A PRESENT POWER

The purpose of remembering, however, is not just to celebrate the past, but to rekindle as power for the present the faith the past inspired. Mr. David McClelland of the Harvard Medical School found that, in his own experience, he could abort colds by thinking about two things: past moments when he felt deeply loved and cared for by someone else, and a time when he loved another person. The remembrance of past love received and given was able to mobilize his immune system to fight off the threatening cold. He was also able to successfully teach this technique to his students

In a similar manner, the remembrance of a past encounter with God can empower us for meeting current and future challenges. So, nothing is a true memorial that points only to the past. Remembering some great event of time gone by, we must be inspired for the present and fit for the future. A memorial keeps our present and future in touch with the past.

THE POWER OF REMEMBERING

The Jews celebrate Passover as a memorial, not simply to remember the past, but to tap its power for the challenges of today. We celebrate the Last Supper for the same reason and the power of this memorial for us is to be found, not alone in that night when Jesus shared this Passover meal with his disciples, but that he is present in our lives now. A memorial window or pew in our churches celebrates not only a person of the past, but the faith of that person that is still an inspiration for us today.

The twelve stones set up by Joshua and his followers were still visible in the day when this book was written. He tells us: "...and they are there to this day" (4:9). Sometime between the time of Joshua and Jesus, they disappeared. We do not know what happened to them, but, because of the Book of Joshua speaks of them, they continue as a memorial to another of God's savings acts in the history of his people.

It is important for us to remember that God has done so that we may continue to look to see what he is doing now and live in the faith that he will continue to act redemptively in the future. That is what these twelve stones and all memorials remind us.

CYNTHIA L. WARNER

TIMONIUM, MD – The Brown Swiss breed once again made a great showing at the 117th Maryland State Fair, in Timonium, MD. A big highlight of this 10 day fair is the naming of the supreme champion at the conclusion of the dairy show. This year, the grand champion Brown Swiss, Shen Val Jades Cara went on to compete against the "best of breeds" on Labor Day, following the tradition Holstein Show, and was named the supreme champion dairy cow of the 1998 Maryland State Fair. This outstanding aged cow, sharp and angular displayed a beautiful udder, and is owned and exhibited by Ernie and Elliott Kueffner, Boonsboro, Md.

A total of 85 Brown Swiss made a strong presentation from heifer classes, cow classes, and included an exceptional group of 11 two-years-old competing in the "Fifth" Mid Atlantic Brown Swiss Futurity. The quality of animals ran deep in all classes, and was really noticeable in the outstanding Futurity class. Well-known Holstein breeder and Judge. James Burdette, Mercersburg, did the honors of lining up the classes for the day.

Also, highlighting the Brown Swiss show was the selection of the "Best Two-Year-Old for the day, which is the Mid Atlantic Brown Swiss Futurity. It came down to "two terrific gals with two terrific cows" After Judge Burdette's remarks, and the suspense had heightened, he named Glad Ray PR Frannie the winner of the 1998 Futurity, exhibited by Jennifer Keilholtz, Emmitsburg, MD. The close second place was Heilinger Jet Meg Myra, exhibited by Laura Heilinger, Lebanon. Judge Burdette commented that the winner was a beautiful "chiseled out" dairy cow, and granted the second place animal on being a very correct, well-balanced cow Glad Ray PR Frannie is sired by Johann Pete Rose, and was also named the Best Bred & Owned animal in the Futurity, and received an authentic Swiss pocket watch in a silver case Jennifer also received a $300 00 cash award as the winner.

The reserve senior champion was also exhibited by Jennifer Keilholtz, the second place aged cow, Shady Creek Lem Mac Madora

Receiving the intermediate champion of the show was also the Futurity winner, Glad Ray PR Frannie, shown by Jennifer Keilholtz, Emmitsburg, MD. The reserve intermediate champion honors went to Gary Mase, Lebanon, exhibiting the first place jr. 3-yr-old, Meadow Hill Patrick Alaina.

Competition in the heifer classes was strong, and Burdette named a big, stylish, fall yearling, GS FLJ Tippy ET the junior champion of the show She was exhibited by Jami Savage, Knoxville, MD. Tippy is a real crowd pleaser with her size and scale, and is a repeat jr champion winner from the 1997 Maryland State Fair The reserve jr. Champion female was a beautiful ribbed, and stylish summer yearling, Hoodstead Jetway Nicole, exhibited by Kristin Myers, New Windsor, MD

THE TOP PLACINGS WERE AS FOLLOWS:

JUNIOR CALF 1 Aimee Smith 2 Clayton Frey 3 Marie & Oscar Sipler
WINTER CALF 1 Aimee Smith 2 Jennifer Keilholtz 3 Jarrod Burall

PERSISTENCE

Confused? All those other dewormer claims about persistence and more persistence and residual and longer residual — but no one mentions residue. When does persistence become a problem for your dairy operation? Don't let persistence wipe you out, too...

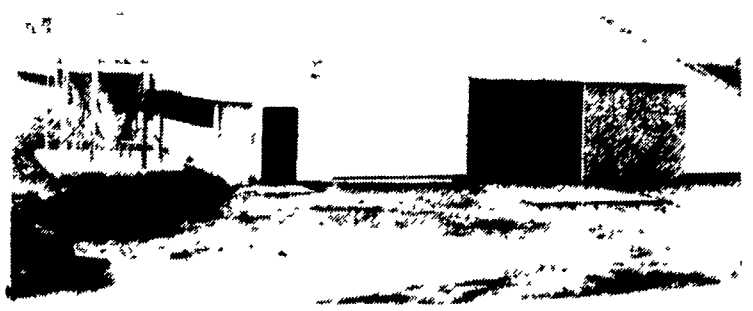
If you're planning to get bigger...



...we can lend a hand.
And some cash.

Before you turn over the first shovelful of dirt for an expansion project, I hope you'll put pencil to paper to figure out how it's going to benefit your farm business. And when you get to the financing part of your planning process, I hope you'll give me a call. At ENB, we've been helping farmers grow their businesses for the past 117 years.

ARE WE NOT WORTH MORE THAN CENTS?
FARMERS do we not have the product? (THE POWER IS IN THE TANK)

Field Day Features Dairy Farm Environmental Practices

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) – Roman Stoltzfoos, a dairy farmer in Gap, was impressed by the nutrient management system on New Zealand dairy farms during a visit in early 1997.

Stoltzfoos has been implementing practical components of the New Zealand grazing and nutrient management system that are appropriate for his 200-acre dairy farm. This summer, he added another component to improve the milkhouse waste and barnyard run off management.

This system and how it fits in with grazing will be discussed as part of the Field Day which Stoltzfoos is hosting on his farm on Tuesday, Sept. 29. Also featured will be a discussion of septic system management practices to protect water quality, and electrical clean grounding systems. The field day will begin at 10 a.m. and conclude by 3 p.m. at the Stoltzfoos farm located at 1143 Gap Rd.

Part of the New Zealand approach to nutrient management on a dairy farm is to manage the cows in a fashion that keeps the amount of manure in the barnyard to a minimum. Stoltzfoos, in his sixth year of grazing, follows this approach by keeping his cows out on pasture as much as possible.

By moving toward seasonal milking with the cows being dry during the winter, he is able to keep cows on pasture throughout the year as long as the ground is fit. The improved barnyard will provide a place to keep the cows clean and protect the pasture when the ground is too soft for cattle to be on the pasture.

Stoltzfoos plans to add a milking parlor in the future which will allow him to milk his 95-cow herd in an hour Reducing the time cows spend at the barn for milking will minimize manure at the barn. Nutrients in the liquids from the barnyard and milkhouse will be collected in the newly installed earthen basin, and used to irrigate the pasture.

Stoltzfoos installed the barnyard run off and milkhouse waste system this summer as a participant in the Environmental Quality Initiative (EQI). This farm is one of two EQI demonstration projects. Technical assistance for the project was provided by the Lancaster County Conservation District and the USDA Natural Resources Conservation Service.

The EQI is a pilot program developed by the Dairy Network Partnership. The EQI program features an EQI mark that can be found on milk products. By purchasing milk labeled with the EQI mark, environmentally-minded consumers are able to join dairy farmers who share their concerns for protecting our natural resources. Reading Fair Dairy S

ANDY ANDREWS

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — A 4-year-old exhibited by Melissa Bicksler, Bernville, won grand champion of the Holstein show Wednesday afternoon at the Reading Fair at the Kutztown Fairgrounds.

Paul Miller, Harrisburg, a Holstein breeder for 45 years, chose the 4-year-old shown by Melissa, Tom-Cat Horton Jewel (S: To-Mar Horton-ET, D: Double-B-B Starbuck Jolly) champion.

Miller chose the junior 2-year-old for reserve champion, shown by Mike Davis for Ray and Frances Davis, Leesport. The reserve is JMJ-Springpond Donaro Judy (S: 2242363, D: 15481416).

In the junior portion of the show, grand champion went to Bradley Younker, Fleetwood, and the reserve to Crystal Miller, Hamburg.

At the Jersey Show, grand champion went to Travis Mast, Oley, with his junior 3-year-old, Limekiln Lester Oley (S: Lester, D: Oprah). Reserve was awarded to the 3-year-old shown by Jill Neiman, Fleetwood, JMJ Imperial Cranberry-P (S: Meadlow Lawn J. Imperial, D: Irish Creek Bernard Raspberry-P).

This is the fourth year in a row that the Reading Fair has been held at the Kutztown Fairgrounds until the completion of the new Reading Fairgrounds Complex at the 4-H and extension center in Leesport.

There were 170 animals entered in the entire dairy show and 50 exhibitors. In the Holstein portion alone, there were 90 animals and 30 exhibitors.

This was the first time Melissa Bicksler won for a Holstein at the Reading Fair (she said she won a couple of years ago with a Brown Swiss). Melissa, 21, is the daughter of Thomas and Cathy Bicksler, Bernville. Melissa recently completed a three-year registered nursing degree program at Reading Hospital School of Nursing. She's a 1995 graduate of Tulpehocken High School.

Melissa noted that the judge liked the 4-year-old cow's large dairy frame and "she walked very well," she said. This was despite a long effort to get the cow to recover from a pinched nerve while calving in June 1997 from having a really big calf (which placed high, by the way, at the fair). For some time, the 4-year-old champion of the Reading Fair limped on her left back leg, but Melissa was able to work with the cow and coax her back to health, and to a championship.

Show judge Paul Miller told the exhibitors at Reading that he had judged some fairs during the summer, and that "this is the nicest group of junior animals that came out of any of the fairs." He enjoyed the "stylist heifer" exhibited by Jessica Luckenbill, Bernville, Cor-Phil Marsue (S: Marshfield Elevation Tony, D: Cor-Phil Valiant Suzie), the fall yearling heifer, champion of the open and junior portions of the show. In the open show, the fall heifer calf exhibited by Suzie Sattizahn, Bernville, Cor-Phil Lindy Ricotta (S: Townson Lindy-ET, D: Cor-Phil Lincoln Roxey) won reserve.

In the junior show, Miller chose the "beautiful calf," he said, shown by Brent Schuler, Fleetwood, D-S-Pine-Lawn Astre Luise (S: Duregal Astre Starbuck-ET, D: D-S-Pine-Lawn Horton Lorton), a fall heifer calf, as reserve of the junior portion of the show.

Following are descriptions of winners of the colored breeds at the Reading Dairy Show during the contest Wednesday afternoon at the Kutztown Fairgrounds.

Colored Breeds

In the Ayrshire competition, Miller picked the senior 2-year-old shown by Jill Vail, Myerstown, Allmine Heligo's Ambrosia (S: Bonnie Brae Heligo, D: Timberlawn Revenge Annabel) as champion.

Reserve went to the 4-year-old shown by Vail, Myline Trident's Reebok (S: Ardrossan Ev Kates Trident, D: S&M Ayr Reliables Rebella).

In the Brown Swiss competition, grand champion also went to Vail, a 4-year-old named Myline Dotson Ambition (S: K Top Acres Dotson ET, D: Kebllay View Doll Ashley Twin). Reserve went to the 4-year old shown by Melissa Bicksler, Bernville, for North-Kill Creek Olga (S: R-Han-Simon Ensign, D: Northkill Creek N Opal).

Miller Sweeps Reading Fair Sheep Show

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

KUTZTOWN (Berks Co.) — For the first time in recent memory, a single exhibitor swept the breed and market lamb competition Monday afternoon and early evening at the Reading Fair here at the Kutztown Fairgrounds.

Amanda Miller swept the breed competition for her first time at the Reading Fair Sheep Show, winning both supreme champion overall ewe and champion ram with Southdowns. She also won grand champion market lamb with her 94-pound medium weight class Shropshire/Southdown crossbred.

Amanda, 13, is the daughter of Ron and Joan Miller, Womelsdorf. In the seventh grade at Tulpehocken Middle School, Amanda showed a ram lamb to champion ram and a yearling ewe to champion ewe Monday at Reading.

Amanda said the ram is homebred. The ewe was purchased from Fruendt Ewe, Monticello, Ill. It was a combination of regular feeding programs, according to her father, Ron, and good sheep genetics that allowed her to garner a championship.

Her mother, Joan, said this was the first time Amanda won champion showman at the fair.

Reserve market lamb champion went to Amanda Gauker, 12, daughter of Barry and Jackie Gauker, Fleetwood. Amanda is in the seventh grade at Fleetwood Middle School. She showed a heavyweight 106-pound purebred Southdown named "Bob." She has won before at the Reading Fair sheep competition.

Show judge Clyde Brubaker, a Hampshire sheep and Angus cattle breeder from Robesonia, said the champion market lamb exhibited by Miller is one that is going to produce "a lot of red meat," a lamb with a "lot of balance, loin, leg of lamb, a very correct, very trim kind of lamb," he said.

Champion ewe at the Reading Fair went to Amanda Miller, who swept the breed show, winning both champion ram and ewe. She's pictured here with the grand champion ewe, a Southdown yearling ewe. Clyde Brubaker judged the show.

The middleweight champion was a trim, long, well-muscled kind of lamb, said Brubaker.

Amanda Gauker's reserve champion, a heavyweight lamb, is a "long-loined, heavily muscled lamb," said Brubaker.

At the show, winners of the market lamb project competition were announced. They are William Willits III, champion, and Jason Levan, reserve.

According to Roger Bowman, the market lamb project incorporates three phases: a skillathon which represents 40 percent of the overall score, showmanship competition (at 20 percent), and the market lamb placings, at 40 percent.

There were a total of 20 exhibitors. Following is a list of show placings.

Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Seeks Specific Evidence For Farm Litter Losses

CAMP HILL (Cumberland Co.) — The Pennsylvania Farm Bureau has developed a Farm Litter Survey that will help document the extent of damage and actual financial loss to farmers. The last survey was conducted at the Pennsylvania Farm Show in the mid-80's, That independent survey estimated losses in the millions. Now, nearly fifteen years later, the situation is worse in rural areas. Pennsylvania Farm Bureau officials believe it is time to document financial losses to farmers from carelessly discarded beverage containers so this evidence can be presented to lawmakers as a counter balance to presentations by those who oppose "Bottle Bill" legislation.

For more than 20 years, PFB has been seeking legislation that would place a deposit on throwaway beverage cans, bottles, and plastics. There has been strong opposition from aluminum and glass manufacturers, beverage companies and food merchants.

PFB supported passage of Pennsylvania's Recycling Law, hoping that recycling would provide relief for farmers and rural residents. Unfortunately, there are few municipalities in rural counties that meet the populations criteria required for mandatory recycling.

PFB hopes to have the data collected by mid-November. You may cut this survey form from Lancaster Farming, answer the questions, and mail it to: Litter Survey, Pennsylvania Farm Bureau, Box 8736, Camp Hill, PA 17001-8736.

labeled milk is used to reward participating farmers who achieve a high standard of environmental excellence. This standard is outlined by the Environmental Farmstead Evaluation, a "scorecard" which measures environmental management on dairy farms. The Evaluation focuses on the management of the barnyard, stream and drainageway, pesticide storage and handling, milkhouse waste, home sewage system and well conditions. Partial funding for the EQI and cost-share for some of the improvements has been provided to the Dairy Network Partnership through grants from the Pennsylvania Department of Environmental Protection and the William Penn Foundation.

Foster Jr and John Foster III of Petersburg.

Judge for the show was Brian Garrison of Tiffin, Ohio.

For junior champion of the show, Garrison selected a winter yearling, Lilburn Stardust Lilac, a Browndale Stardust daughter owned by Joseph Parker of Greenville. It was bred by Charles Whitely & Son. The yearling won an All-Pennsylvania honor for Parker.

The reserve junior champion of the show was also a winter yearling, Windy-Knoll-View RKB Peskie, bred and owned by Robert Kyle Burdette, of Mercersburg. A Juror daughter, it tied with the junior champion for All-Pennsylvania honors.

Both of the junior champion animals were also the junior champions of the youth division of the show.

The senior and grand champions of the youth division were both shown by Amy Jo Hartman of Parnell View Farm in St. Thomas, near the Mercersburg area.

Her 8-year-old aged cow, Parnell View Jethro Sibyl, was named senior and grand champion of the youth division.

The Hanover Hill Jethro daughter also earned All-Pennsylvania honorable mention, and was the best bred and owned Holstein in both the open and youth division shows.

Ironically, on Monday, before another judge in the state Junior Dairy Show, Sibyl didn't even place in the top three in her age class.

Hartman's junior 3-year-old, Parnell View Stardust Derry, also bred and owned, was named reserve senior and reserve grand champion. It is a Browndale Stardust daugther, and the dam was Windy-Knoll-View Gold Dolly, one she purchased locally.

Hartman is in her last year in 4-H and said the double win of the youth division championship made her feel "pretty good." It was her first win of a grand championship at a state championship show.

"We are having a herd dispersal, so it's even better. This is probably the last time I show them," she said.

The complete dispersal of 150 head of registered Holsteins, of all ages, includes their 65-head milking string. They have one Excellent animal (Sibyl the aged cow), 17 Very Goods and 40 Good plus, and the herd carries a 106 BAA.

The sale is set for 10:30 a.m., Oct. 31. Her parents, Carl and Deanna Hartman said they are not selling the farm, but are getting out of dairy production.

Amy Jo is a sophmore at the Penn State Monte Alto Campus pursuing a degree in business and finance. Her brother Jamie Hartman is a dairy nutritionist.

Another highlight of Tuesday's 18th state Fall Championship was the Keystone 3-Year-Old Futurity, with a first prize of at least $1,100.

There were nine entries and the winner was Penn-Gate Jed FM Abbeye, owned by John Pennings, with the Penn-Gate Farm in Littlestown. The Juniper Rotate Jed daughter was bred by Chris Wood, who with husband Steve and father Bob Gitt operate Penn Gate Farm.

Penn-Gate Farm again captured the fall championship show's premier breeder and exhibitor awards, honors based on the number of animals exhbited and how well they placed in the show.

Another annual award made during the state Holstein fall championship is the George M. Knight Jr. Total Performance Award, a memorial award presented by the surviving family in honor of Mr. Knight.

The award is based on show placings and lifetime production.

The winner was Wind Drift AJ

Penn State Dairymen's Club Solicits Award Nominations

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) – The Penn State Dairymen's Club is soliciting nominations for their annual service award. The honor is rotated through three industry segments - producers, industry representatives, and educators.

This year a dairy educator who has worked towards the advancement and betterment of the dairy industry will be recognized. Nominations can include retirees as well as those still active in the industry.

Any person is eligible to nominate candidates for this award, and nominees do not have to be Penn State alumni.

This year will mark the eight award. Previous winners include Robert Patton (Monsanto), William Conyngham (Hillside Farm), Larry Specht (Penn State), Dean Amick (PA DHIA), Sam Williams (Bryncoed Farm), Steve Spencer (Penn State), Duane Norman (USDA), and Jay Houser (Penn-Dell Farm).

The winner will be recognized at the Penn State Dairymen's Club annual meeting on Friday, Nov. 6 at 6:30 p.m. in State College.

To make a reservation for the dinner meeting, contact Beth Raney at 405 Ag admin, University Park PA 16802, phone 814-863-2525 or send e-mail to bnrl@psu.edu.

All nominations of industry personnel should be submitted to Kirk Sattazahn, RD1 Box 164, Womelsdorf PA 19567. Or send via e-mail to Kirk S25@aol.com.

Deadline for nominations is Oct. 9, 1998.

There is no specific format for nominations, but items that may be discussed are leadership in the agricultural community, person involvement in the dairy industry, and personal achievement and contributions to local organizations and youth.

The Penn State Dairymen's Club is a non-profit support group whose mission is to enhance activities between the dairy industry and the Penn State College of Agricultural Sciences. New members are always welcome.

Controlling What Cows Eat - Article 16

Goal Know and control what cows eat, how much they eat, and when they eat it
Maintain a continual flow of necessary nutrients to the rumen, and in proper proportions

We develop rations on paper, we deliver a ration to the cows, we have average intake data for the herd but what really counts is what the individual cows actually consume Intakes can vary considerably from cow to cow within a group and from what is on the paper

1 Rations fed in conventional systems are difficult to control, because some of the feed stuffs are fed separately and at different times Cows have some opportunity to pick and choose what they eat Therefore, it is usually beneficial to work with a greater margin of safety
   - Feed more than minimal amounts of forage and less concentrates
   Feed concentrates at frequent intervals, and feed no more than 8 lb of concentrate per feeding
   Feed forage before grain
   - Match the feeding of soluble protein feeds with the feeding of soluble carbohydrates
2 Total mixed rations (TMR) are best, IF properly balanced and IF properly fed Every bite has the potential to be identical and balanced so the flow of nutrients to the rumen is consistent and constant

TMR's have the potential to increase production by 2,000 lb or more over conventional feeding situations in many herds However, if TMR-fed cows are top-dressed, or are given free access to one or more feeds, they do NOT have a TMR mix! So, don't expect the benefits of a TMR ration in these situations! Don't waste your money on a TMR system if you are not going to use it properly

3 Monitor what is going on and make ration adjustments whenever needed
   - Keep a close watch on daily bulk tank milk weights
   - Monitor milk composition Low fat tests, and fat tests lower than protein tests might indicate a malfunctioning rumen High or low milk urea nitrogen (MUN) levels may indicate a need to rebalance the ration Fat cow and thin cow problems may be due to energy imbalances Ketosis, twisted stomachs (DA's), laminitis, and milk fever are nutrition-related problems too
   - A lot of grain kernels and long fibers in the manure could indicate the need for more soluble protein, or the need to feed less grain and more forages
4 Base your feeding decisions on accurate information
   - Analyze your feeds Be sure to collect representative samples of the feeds to be tested
   - Take feed samples early, have them analyzed, and have recommended feeding programs in your hand ready to use, prior to the time you need them Testing feeds at harvest time can help you plan ahead It is also helpful to buy feeds in advance of the time you need them so you have time to test them and work them into your feeding program in a systematic manner
   - Be sure the feeding program is based on accurate herd information In other words, don't expect your nutritionist to give you a good program if you do not give him/her good information to work with
     Weigh the feeds that are fed and the feed that is refused or wasted
     Check the moisture contents of ensiled feeds frequently
     Know how much dry matter cows are actually consuming
   - Revise the feeding program when - -
     Cows' actual intakes do not agree with recommendations on the feeding chart
     You notice a change in animal performance
     You notice changes in feeds, feed quality, or their moisture content

Eastern European Delegation Visits PA DHIA

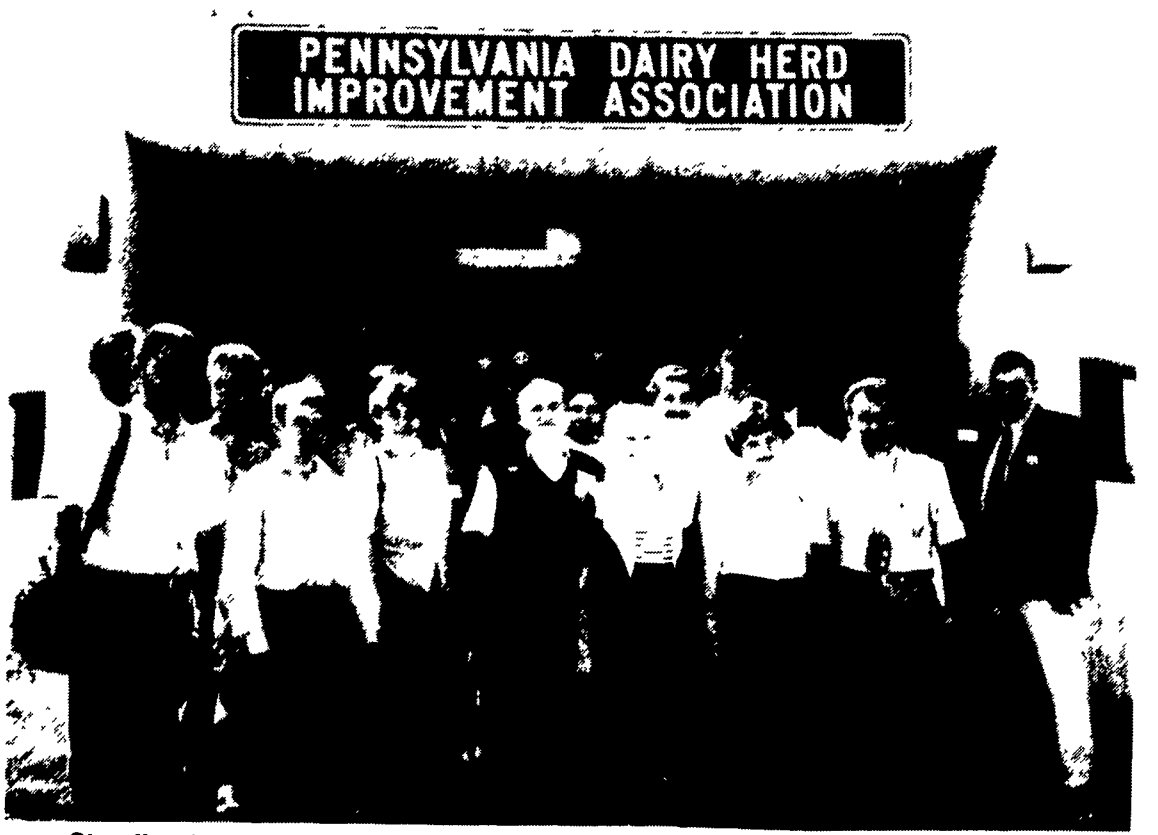
SCOTT WILLIAMS
Training Coordinator

STATE COLLEGE (Centre Co.) – Recently a delegation of officials from 8 eastern European countries attended a seminar at the PA DHIA facilities. The group also toured the facilities and expressed keen interest in someday developing such a system to aid the dairy industry of their country. Tom Smith, International Marketing Manager; George Cudoc, Consulting Farmer; and Jim Boyer Data Processing Manager taught a seminar on PA DHIA international capabilities.

During their 2 week stay in Pennsylvania, the delegation had a chance to tour many agricultural sights. This serves as a learning experience with many ideas taken back to their Home Counties. In the process they develop a working relationship to build further proposals for international development.

Agriculture professors, parliament members and ministers, research and marketing directors and university presidents came to Pennsylvania to glean information to nurture a transformation from communist collectives to capitalist free markets.

PA PHIA manager Dave Slusser and his wife Kaye completed a private VOCA project this summer in Ukraine working with milk processors. In the process they developed a working relationship with several Ukraine Agriculture University Professors who then came to Pennsylvania and toured PA DHIA facilities and attended the seminar.



Standing in front of the PA DHIA laboratory and data processing center is Dave Slusser, far right, greeting agricultural professionals from 8 eastern European countries.

Average Farm Feed Costs For Handy Reference

To help farmers across the state to have handy reference of commodity input costs in their feeding operations for DHIA record sheets or to develop livestock feed cost data, here's last week's average costs of various ingredients as compiled from regional reports across the state of Pennsylvania.

Remember, these are averages, so you will need to adjust your figures up or down according to your location and the quality of your crop.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition Set For 1998

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 42nd year at Harrisburg. The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep, and horses. It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on September 30 - October 5, 1998.

1998 has been designed as "Year of the Horse", so horse exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the horse.

Increased interest and entries have led the show management to expand the horse program to seven days, the Haflinger Show will be on Tuesday evening. Once again, part of the draft horse-hitch show is a qualifying event in the North American Six Horse Hitch Classic Series, and many of the county's top rated hitches will work to earn points for the national event.

Other livestock will also garner international attention. The Limousin Show has been designated as a Limousin Medal of Excellence Show, Level II, one of eight approved regional competitions that qualify exhibitors for their national show.

For the first time ever, KILE has been designated as an American Hereford Association Regional Show.

Two Regional Shows will be featured in the junior division of the sheep department — a Regional Montadale Junior show and a Mid-Eastern Regional Junior Tunis Show. Seven sheep breeds will hold yearling Ewe and Lamb sales during the week.

Starting on Thursday, at 3:00 p.m., will be the Stockmen's Trade Show. Everything from t-shirts and jewelry to saddles and horse trailers will be available to purchase from the 35 vendor booths at the show.

Hundreds of collegiate, FFA and 4-H students from several states always enter the junior livestock judging and stockman contests at KILE. These keen educational competitions are excellent tests of knowledge and skill, providing students with valuable experience for their futures in agriculture.

Over 4,400 entries are expected for the 1998 show, which offers a record $200,000 in premiums.

Along with a huge array of livestock, the Exposition will include a stockman's trade show with commercial exhibits, strolling entertainment, a tantalizing assortment of foods prepared by various Pennsylvania commodity groups and the Barnyard Baby Exhibit where young and old alike may touch and pet the animals.

TUESDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 29 — Due to space limitations, one show will be held, the Haflinger Hitch Show at 6:00 p.m.

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 30 — The Exposition officially begins at 8:00 a.m. with the Appaloosa Horse show and the Haflinger Halter Show.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 1 — The Shire and Belgian Halter Shows will begin at 8:00 a.m. Draft Horse Hitch Shows will be featured at 2:00 p.m. and 7:00 p.m. The Opening Ceremony will be held at 4:00 p.m. with the Livestock Person of the year and Outstanding FFA and 4-H Livestock Members being recognized. Wool judging begins at 3:00 p.m. and breeding sheep and swine judging will begin at 5:00 p.m.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 2 — STOCKMAN'S DAY — The Draft Horse Halter Show, featuring Percherons & Clydesdales, begins at 8:00 a.m. along with the breeding sheep featuring various breeds followed by Hereford cattle at noon. Simmental Cattle Futurity is featured at 9:00 a.m. Also, at 9:00 a.m. begins the judging of breeding swine of various breeds. Throughout the afternoon, various classes will be conducted including cattle and sheep. At 6:00 p.m. the Keystone Classic Sale will take place, which will feature eight breeds of swine. 1998 has been designated as "Year of the Horse", so horse exhibitors will receive special attention as part of the effort to increase public awareness of the horse industry and the high caliber of horse shows held annually at KILE.

Once again, part of the draft horse-hitch show is a qualifying event in the North American Six-Horse Hitch Classic Series and many of the country's top rated hitches will work to earn points for the national event.

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is in its 42nd year at Harrisburg The Exposition is recognized nationally as a showcase for the nation's top beef cattle, swine, sheep and horses It will be held at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg on September 30 - October 5.

At the 1998 Show, we are attempting to give people a reason to stay. One of "America's top performing acts", Animals of Distinction, will be performing three shows daily These world famous animal performers are drawing record crowds from coast to coast. They not only entertain but also educate against animal abuse and neglect

The two strolling acts, booked primarily for Friday, Saturday, Sunday and Monday, will amble around the Farm Show Complex putting on their show. For too many years, the only reason people had to attend the KILE Show was to look at the animals and one quick trip through the barns and they went home

The first strolling act is musical The Sadie Green Sales, two talented performers, play music on wash tubs, saws and crockery jugs They are sure to both amuse and entertain "Huggles", the clown will not only perform a short magic show on stage but will also move around the building His antics make him a real favorite with the small children

Heavy Hitch Classic Set for KILE

On Saturday, October 3rd, the Farm Show Arena will come alive with the sound of thundering hooves. The Heavy Hitch Classic will begin at 7 00 p.m in the Large Arena of the Farm Show Complex. An admission fee of $5.00 per person will be charged at the gate.

Hitches come from six states and represent five major draft horse breeds.

In 1997, over 200 six-horse hitchers were entered in the 45 qualifying shows across the United States and Canada. The Keystone International Livestock Exhibition is again a qualifying show for the eries final. Prize money will be awarded at the KILE Show.

The North American Six-Horse Hitch Classic Series is the ultimate driving event in the heavy horse world. The Keystone International Livestock Exposition has been chosen as one of 45 recognized Qualifying Shows on the Classic Series Show circuit Each year all across America, six-horse hitches perform at state fairs and agricultural exhibitions to accumulate points for their region and beyond competing at Qualifying Shows spread across Canada and the United States The competition builds to a climax at the end of the year when the high-point hitches are invited to compete in the final competition, the Classic Series. The winner of the Classic Series All Breed Trophy is considered by many to be the best six-horse hitch in the world

The stated goals for the Classic Series are "to increase the number of draft hitches on the show circuit" and to "increase public awareness of the sport of driving heavies, hereby expanding development of the draft breed industry."

The four major draft horse breeds that compete in the Classic Series are Belgians, Percherons, Clydesdales, and Shires. Hitches are judged on conformation, manners, the proper fit and cleanliness of the harness, the appropriateness of wagon, and the hitch's way of going. The stride of a draft horse at the walk should be long, one that covers ground, with plenty of snap The trot should be stylish, giving the distinct impression of power and energy.

The sport of driving draft horses is continuing to grow and find favor with audiences across the continent. The Classic Series competition offers incentives for exhibitors and encourages breeders of quality hitch horses

The stylish driving horses seen in the ring today are the result of countless hours of preparation and care that culminate in the brilliant performances you will witness during this Classic Series Qualifying Show Competition

The real winner of the Classic Six-Horse Hitch Series is the spectator Over 400 draft horses will be on display and it is expected that over twenty six-horse hitches will be in competition for the Classic at the Keystone

PLA Youth Awards

The Pennsylvania Livestock Association (PLA) has recognized outstanding 4-H and FFA Youth for the past 22 years. The winners are selected from a field of candidates submitted by county extension personnel and vocational agriculture teachers throughout the commonwealth.

The male FFA Youth Award recipient this year is Travis G. Moyer, son of Gregory & Aletha Moyer of RR 3, Box 43B, Middleburg, PA 17842. At eight years of age, he joined 4-H and received his first animal, which was a dairy calf to show at county fairs. After his parents sold the dairy herd, Tavis continued to raise and sell dairy heifers, plus added swine and sheep and presently raises and shows all three species.

Travis learned to weld in his high school freshman year and has since constructed a beef grooming shute, two sheep blocking stands and a livestock trailer. He plans to further his education and become a certified welder.

Heather Bankert is the female recipient of the FFA Award. Heather is the daughter of Wayne & Sue Bankert, 5282 Rippling Run Road, Red Lion, PA 17356. Her grandfather gave her her first Southdown when she was nine years old. Since then, she has purchased ewes and rams to begin her own breeding program. She has transferred her increasing flock from a 4-H to an FFA project and strives for top quality sheep. Along with her plans to attend college, majoring in elementary education, she will continue to raise sheep

The male 4-H winner is Paul Kitzmiller, son of Thelma Kitzmiller, 8250 Harmony Grove Road, Wellsville, PA 17365. Paul purchased his first seven crossbred sheep in 1987 and has increased his flock in size as high as 55 head in 1996. Due to his entrance into Delaware Valley College this fall, he has cut back his flock to 30 sheep. She also has experience with raising and selling market hogs and beef steers and is currently working on a hog operation with Kent Strock.

He has won many awards and ribbons for breeding sheep, market lambs, beef, steers and market hogs. He also won the Outstanding Senior Boy and the 4-H York Fair Award. He has served in many positions in various clubs.

Paul has been employed by the Carlisle Large Animal Veterinary Clinic, Tractor Supply Company and currently by Strock's Farm Fresh Meats. He plans to graduate from Delaware Valley College with a BS Degree in Large Animal Science and attend the University of Pennsylvania's Veterinary School and eventually open his own Large Animal Veterinary Clinic.

Heidi Svonavec, from Somerset County, is the female 4-H winner. She is the daughter of David and Betty Lou Svonavec of 887 West Mudpike Road, Rockwood, PA 15557. Ten years ago, Heidi purchased her first 4-H market lamb. A few years later, she purchased a ewe to raise as a breeding stock project. Since then, her project has grown into a flock of 40 brood ewes that she breeds and lamb out for 4-Her's who started out much like herself. This year, at her annual sale, lambs were purchased in PA, OH, MD and KY.

She was the 1998 State Lamb & Wool Queen and attended the Governor's ball and presented Gov. Tom Ridge with a promotional basket of sheep by-products. She currently promotes the sheep and wool industry with Secretary of Agriculture, Sam Hayes and writes a column for the Pennsylvania Sheep Producers magazine. She also attends Ag Progress Days, K.I.L.E., State Farm Show and numerous county fairs promoting the industry.

Heidi is enrolled at PSU, Altoona, in the dairy animal science program and plans to pursue a career in the field of veterinary medicine.

These very deserving young people will be recognized at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition opening ceremony in the Small Arena of the Farm Show Complex on Thursday, October 1st at 4:00. They will receive a plaque and a monetary award.

Saturday is Kid's Day

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition has chosen Saturday, October 3, 1998 as a special day for children. Daily attractions continue throughout Kid's Day including the unique Sadie Green Sales Jug Band and "Huggles" the clown with his magic show. Both acts will be strolling the Farm Show facility Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Kessler's "Barnyard" is open all week long providing a unique experience for the children to actually touch farm animals such as a calves, sheep, and pigs. A farmer will be there to answer any questions youngsters may have.

Lebanon Valley Farmers/Fulton Bank is sponsoring the "Agri-Kid Olympics" at 12:00 noon. The olympics is a fun time for kids as they compete is such farm-related events as Sack Races, Wheel Barrow Races, Laughing Contest, Horse Shoe Pitch and Hog-Calling Contest.

The Kiddie Pedal Power Tractor Pull, sponsored by Evergreen Tractor Sales at Myerstown, is a special event very similar to the big tractor pulls seen at many county fairs. Children must preregister at 1:30 for the event which will be held at 3:00 p.m. The event is limited to 80 participants. So be sure to sign up early.

So, why not plan to bring your children to the 1998 Keystone International Livestock Exposition at the Farm Show Complex in Harrisburg, PA.

KEYSTONE INTERNATIONAL LIVESTOCK EXPOSITION

Shepherd's Lead Line

Who looks better, the Sheep or the Shepherd? Judges will tell at the Keystone International Livestock Exposition Shepherd's Lead Line Competition to be held on Saturday, October 3, 1998 precisely at NOON at the Farm Show Complex

The objectives of this class are to present a class of yearling ewes in a most attractive manner and give spectators an opportunity to see the best of the sheep industry.

The norman procedure at a Livestock Show is for the animal to be all primped and lovely, but in our Lead Line Competition the Leadsman is also in the limelight. Both are to be dressed fashionably in their best wool outfit. (At least 80% wool)

Not just another pretty face can steal our show Our herdsperson must not only look terrific, but our sheep must also show their modeling talents The contestants and the sheep must be able to work together in the ring

Spokespersons point out the virtues of wool at ringside It is a product that has been around forever and in recent years is making a well deserved comeback

The Keystone International Livestock Exposition is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Livestock Association in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture and the Pennsylvania Farm Products Show Commission

Why not plan to enjoy yourself at the 1999 Keystone International Livestock Exposition.

Crawford County Holds Livestock Sale

MEADVILLE (Crawford Co.) — Auctioneer Sherman Allen, Conneaut Lake, started the sale off by getting buyers in the mood for some tasty steaks, lamb chops, or barbecued pork by dressing up as a chef and apparently it worked because the bidding was lively.

During the evening 103 4-H and FFA market hogs, 51 steers, and 31 market lambs were sold to the highest bidders.

Josh Erickson poses with John Altmyer of Custom Fab Trailers who purchased his Grand Champion Hog for $6.75/lb. and Miss Crawford County Lauriel Gillette.

USDA, EPA Propose A Plan

may evolve and change as their understanding of the issues increases through further work and receipt of additional information."

The table of contents provides an introduction and guiding principles; a section on AFOs and what characterizes them and the risks to water quality and public health; a section on the national goal and performance expectations of AFOs; the relationship between voluntary and mandatory programs, stressing that most are to be voluntary; and strategic issues, which effectively are the theoretical ways to implement the strategy.

According to the draft strategy, "AFOs are agricultural enterprises where animals are kept and reaise in confined situations."

Further, it states that USDA data indicates that majority of farms with livestock are considered small — with fewer than 250 animal units. Animal units are described as "roughly one beef cow, therefore 1,000 AUs is equal to 1,000 beef cows or equevalent number of other animals."

Those operations with 1,000 AUs or more are considered large operations.

1992" the number of livestock has increased by about 3 percent. "During the same period, however, the number of AFOs decreased, indicating a consolidation within the industry overall and greater production from fewer and larger AFOs."

According to the proposal's statement of the national goal and peformance expectations of AFOs, "USDA and EPA's goal is for AFO owners and oeprators to take actions to minimize wate4r pollution from confinement facilities and land application of manure. To accomplish this goal, this strategy establishes a national performance expectation that all AFOs should develop and implement technically sound and economically feasible Comprehensive Nutrient Management Plans (CNMPs) to minimize impacts on water quality and public health."

The proposal would have the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS) Field Office Technical Guide (FOTG) is the primary technical reference to be used for developing the nutrient management plans.

Clinton County Dairy Princess, An Outstanding 4-H'er, Vows To Serve State's Prominent Industry

ANDY ANDREWS
Lancaster Farming Staff

HARRISBURG (Dauphin Co.) — In front of 32 dairy princesses and alternates on stage, speaking to more than 400 representatives and family of the state's largest single agriculture industry, Jennifer Dotterer made one thing perfectly clear:

The state's dairy princesses, alternates, and those who meet people face to face to promote the state's dairy industry are not "slackers."

During the "concealed question" portion of the 42nd Annual Dairy Princess Coronation ceremonies last Saturday night, Dotterer, the new 1998-1999 state dairy princess, readily answered the question put forward by Master of Ceremonies Grover C. Gouker: "What do you believe is the one of the greatest challenges facing your generation today, and what role will you play in facing that challenge?"

Dotterer, Clinton County dairy princess from Mill Hall, was pert: "I believe one of the greatest challenges we face is the older generation, who sometimes call us 'slackers,'" she said. "I will do my part to work my hardest . . . to promote the dairy industry."

When she was crowned by outgoing princess Nichole Meabon, Jennifer said, "I am feeling so many emotions now I don't know where to begin."

Jennifer, 19, is the daughter of Larry and Joyce Dotterer of Mill Hall. She works with her family, including two younger sisters, Amanda and Candice, on a 1,200-acre Clinton County Farm, where they milk 465 of the 525 Holsteins.

A sophomore studying dairy science at Delaware Valley College, Jennifer is a member of the Dairy Society, Block and Bridle Club, and Collegiate 4-H. A graduate of Bald Eagle-Nittany High School, Jennifer was a varsity cheerleader for wrestling and basketball and a member of the French, Spanish, yearbook, and environmental clubs.

Jennifer belongs to the Windy Acres and Horses Unlimited 4-H clubs, the dairy and livestock judging teams, and served as county ambassador in 1996, when she was selected as Outstanding 4-H'er.

Showing horses and pigs and dairy and livestock judging are listed as her interests.

The coronation ceremony at the Sheraton Inn East, Harrisburg, last Saturday evening capped a busy summer, when state dairy princesses competed for county titles. This year 29 of the 31 county dairy princesses, representing 36 counties, arrived at the Sheraton Hotel Thursday evening and underwent two days of judging. Each princess was interviewed and underwent several meetings, presentations, speeches, and scrapbooks for review. Selection of seven finalists took a couple of days.

The seven finalists included Lacy Jean Zakostelecky, Crawford County dairy princess who was named first alternate, and second alternate Megan Meyers, Franklin County dairy princess. Finalists also included Amanda Sollenberger, 17, Blair County dairy princess and daughter of Gerald and Jean Sollenberger, Curryville; Lisa M. Heimbach, SUN Area princess and daughter of Robert and Vickie Heimbach, Mt. Pleasant Mills; Kristina Lea Baker, 16, Tioga County princess and daughter of William and Rebecca Baker, Covington; and Jessica Kathleen Bailor, 17, Juniata County dairy princess, Honey Grove.

Lacey, 16, is the daughter of Jeffrey and Laurie Zakostelecky, Springboro. A junior at Conneaut Valley High School, Lacey works on her family's Zak's Dairy Farm and owns 24 of the farm's 44 Brown Swiss. She is a member of the Brown Swiss Cattle Breeders Association and the Pennsylvania Brown Swiss Association. Lacey is president of the Conneaut Valley 4-H Club and vice president of the Conneaut Valley FFA. At the high school, she is a high honor student and a member of the yearbook and newspaper staffs, Students Against Drunk Driving (SADD) and Spanish Club, and plays softball and basketball.

Lacey has an older sister, Cheryl, and younger brother, Scott. She is a member of Conneautville Baptist Church and enjoys playing all sports, swimming, fishing, cross-country skiing, hiking, crafting, and collecting teddy bears, in addition to showing dairy cows.

During the concealed question portion of the contest, the master of ceremonies asked her what she thought the greatest challenge of her generation was and how she would face it herself. "I plan to maintain a good Christian background," said Lacey, "and tell them what I believe is right, what I prefer."

Jennifer Dotterer, Mill Hall, is the new Pennsylvania dairy princess.

Scrapbook honors went to Megan Meyers, Franklin County princess, state alternate and Lacey Jean Zakostelecky, Crawford dairy princess, also state alternate.

Miss Congeniality went to Lisa M. Heimbach, SUN Area dairy princess, Mt. Pleasant Mills.

HOMESTEAD NOTES

Dairy Princess

"We're a family now," said second alternate Megan Meyers, 17, while standing for the first photos of the new dairy princesses. Megan is the daughter of Ed and Diana Myers, St. Thomas. Megan, Franklin County dairy princess, owns 10 of the 370 Holsteins and Jerseys on her family's 550-acre dairy farm, where she works with brother Cory. Megan is a member of the Western 4-H Dairy Club, the Franklin County Junior Judging Team, and is a reporter for the county Junior Holstein Club. She enjoys playing drums and is a member of the Mercersburg Community Band.

Megan plans to study communications at Penn State. She is president of her senior class and is a member of band, chorus, show choir, and pit-orchestra for school plays. She is also a member of AFS, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, SADD, and the Great Literature Club.

In response to the concealed question, Megan said, "I believe peer pressure is a big part my generation." She believes too many of her peers are susceptible and succumb to the pressure. Megan noted that "it's their choice — they choose. Be leaders, not followers."

She said that she wants to show peers how to avoid giving in to peer pressure, "and to be a spokesperson for my generation."

During the evening ceremonies, a skit was presented by Megan, wearing a white coverall and plain red shirt, which featured her mysteriously talking cardboard box painting, "Dairy-O Milk." While on the easel, the painting actually "spoke" to Megan about the benefits of milk and the importance of drinking 3-4 servings of milk a day. The mysterious voice described about eight milk products in various sized packages that are good for overall health.

Janet Harding, program director, Pennsylvania Dairy Princess and Promotion Services, Inc (PDPPS), introduced the outgoing princess, Nichole R. Meabon, daughter of Paula and Randy Meabon, Erie County. She said that Nichole "Nicki" had become "number 14 of the daughters I have worked with as state princesses.

"When I say they become daughters, they really do," said Harding.

She spoke about the long hours and hard work, "busy gals at home, in school, and at their jobs.

"Nicki has represented our industry from Day One," said Harding.

Nichole, in her farewell presentation, spoke about her "incredible experience" as a state dairy princess. She told an audience about her exhaustive work through the entire year, about how "nothing can prepare you for that first moment when you go into the (Farm Show) Complex and you can't go anywhere," with so many people coming to see you and "so many outrageously great things."

Nichole spoke about her orange and white with blue eyes cat "Guernsey" and about the long trips taken throughout the state, meeting the public, answering questions about the industry, and addressing school and civic groups. She said that everywhere Harding would drive, Nichole would simply "sleep" until they would arrive.

Throughout her farewell remarks, Nichole fought to hold back tears. Many of the contestants and many former dairy princess families in the room simply cried along with her.

Arlene Wilbur, associate program director, PDPPS, spoke about the Tina M. Shultz Memorial Award, an award presented in honor of the 1985-1986 Huntingdon County dairy princess who was willing to serve her industry while fighting a losing battle with cancer. Julie McConnell, Beaver-Lawrence dairy princess, was honored with the memorial award. Julie is the daughter of Jeff and

During the contest, Heimbach presented a skit entitled "Smile." She spoke about all the things that dairy producers could smile about, including being part of the number one ag industry in Pennsylvania. Lisa said that milk products not only provide the necessary calcium but the nutrients in milk "aid in the production of antibodies to fight infection or fight off viruses."

Lisa said the state produces about $1.46 billion of dairy products, including 73 million gallons of ice cream and more than 80 million pounds of butter. In addition, Pennsylvania produces more than 348 million pounds of different kinds of cheeses.

She told the audience, "I want you to walk out of here with a big smile, because you help feed America."

Judges included Kirk C. Downey, Williamsport, Md.; Chip Pratt, Cazenovia, N.Y.; Pamela Szczerba, Newark, Del.; and Cindy Warner, Frederick, Md.

How Do You Remove Smoke, Mildew Odors?

Odors from smoke or mildew often become trapped in textiles, making them impossible to remove by normal cleaning techniques. Most of these odors, however, can be removed by your drycleaner through the use of ozone generators.

Ozone is formed through a process called oxidation, which causes the material with which the oxygen is combined to chang its molecular configuration by losing one or more if its electrons.

Ozone generators work by passing dry air through a high frequency electrical field. This electrical discharge splits an oxygen molecule into two free atoms, which then combine with an oxygen molecule that has not been split to form ozone. The contact between ozone and the odors embedded in the textiles causes oxidation to reoccur, resulting in elimination of the odors and release of oxygen.

Some plants charge as much as 60 percent of the normal invoice price for this service. However, if the garment is valuable to you or if you have experiienced a disaster such as a fire or flood, you may find it well worth the money.

Make It Pizza

Often hailed as the "perfect meal," it's no wonder pizza appears on America's top five most-often craved foods.

Today's passion for pizza is leading to more adventurous and sophisticated ways to add pizzazz to the standard slice.

Conventional toppings are being replaced with fresh and exciting alternatives such as sweet basil, jalapeno peppers, grilled vegetables, spicy peanut or barbecue sauce, grilled asparagus or wild mushrooms, and even mixed greens.

More varied cheeses are being used but mozzarella continues as the undisputed reign as "king of pizza cheese" according to the 1995 Business Trend Analysts report).

Crusts, too, are more diverse. Various doughs like whole wheat and sourdough are often used in place of the traditional white flour crusts and have quickly gained notoriety because of the enhanced flavor they add.

Don't forget, any pizza can be grilled.

Included in today's selection are non-typical pizzas — a vegetable pizza and a brownie pizza — popular party fare.

For a free brochure filled with more pizza recipes from the American Dairy Association, send a self-addressed, stamped business-sized envelope to "Pizza Go Home!," c/o ADA, P.O. Box 760, Rosemont, IL 60018-7760.

PIZZA SAUCE RECIPE

3 quarts tomatoes, canned
1 quart tomato paste
2 cups water
3 teaspoons garlic powder
3 teaspoons onion powder
3 teaspoons salt
½ teaspoon black pepper
2 tablespoons basil leaves
2 tablespoons oregano
¼ cup butter

Strain tomatoes, reserve juice. Chop the pulp using a French knife.

Have all equipment and ingredients handy.

In a saucepan, add the tomato pulp, juice, tomato paste, and water. Bring to a boil.

Add the remaining ingredients and stir with a spoon. Simmer until mixture reduces slightly and becomes fairly thick.

Check seasoning and pour into stainless container.

Yields one gallon.

GRILLED VEGETABLE, FETA, AND MOZZARELLA PIZZA

½ small eggplant, cut in ½-inch slices
1 small red bell pepper, sliced into ½-inch rings
1 small zucchini, thinly sliced lengthwise
1 small yellow squash, thinly sliced lengthwise
3 tablespoons olive oil, divided
1 tablespoon cornmeal
1 pound pizza dough, thawed if frozen
1 clove garlic, crushed
3 tablespoons chopped fresh oregano, or 1½ tablespoons dried
1 cup mozzarella cheese, cubed
¾ cup crumbled feta cheese
Freshly ground black pepper

Prepare charcoal on one side of a covered grill to medium coals or heat gas grill to medium-high.

Brush sliced vegetables with 2 tablespoons olive oil. Arrange on an oiled grill over hot coals. Cook eggplant and pepper slices 3-4 minutes on each side; cook zucchini and yellow squash slices 2-3 minutes on each side. Remove vegetables from grill and set aside.

Sprinkle a 14-inch pizza pan or a large baking sheet with cornmeal. Roll out or stretch pizza dough to a 14-inch circle, forming a small rim around the edge. Transfer to the pizza pan or baking sheet. Drizzle remaining oil over dough; sprinkle with garlic and half the oregano. Scatter the mozzarella over the dough. Arrange the grilled vegetables over the mozzarella. Scatter the feta over the vegetables and sprinkle with remaining oregano and freshly ground black pepper.

Position pizza pan or baking sheet away from hot coals and close grill over. Grill over indirect medium-high heat 10-15 minutes until crust is crisp and cheese has melted.

On Being a Farm Wife (and other hazards)

Joyce Bupp

One more time.

Or maybe not?

No one could accuse us of being obsessed with lawn care. There are simply too many other crops to maintain here on the farm to get hung-up on having a perfect stretch of grass around the house.

And the lawn's appearance often testifies to that.

One romp through soggy bluegrass by a couple of heel-kicking heifers can wreak havoc that takes weeks to undo. And a cow with a sore foot, turned out for R and R in the shade of the trees for extra comfort and better footing, creates its own set of lawn problems.

On baking hot summer days, The Farmer will occasionally park the tractor and hay windrower under the trees in the shade to do midday maintenance repairs. Or run through it with the backhoe en route to perform some dig-out chore around the barn. And there's practically a packer trail through the yard made from his endless trips back and forth with the four-wheeler, hand-spray-rig for field spot-spraying.

Often, at this time of year, if it weren't for crabgrass, there'd be no grass at all in a few corners. Especially after the prolonged hot, dry spell we've had. While finer grasses hunker down and wait for more favorable growing conditions, crabgrass thumbs its nose at heat and dry and sends up more distant shoots in defiance.

All that said, I still enjoy mowing the lawn.

In early spring, it's a delight to climb aboard our aged riding mower and trim the clumpy green growth that by first-mowing is thick and lush in our low-lying, damp lawn. The spring bulbs are still in bloom and perennials are resprouting confident new growth. And the fresh-cut grass smell is absolutely heavenly.

That first mowing is a true rite of early spring, a ceremonial salute to the coming of the growing season.

By September, the novelty of mowing lawn has worn a little thin, like the browning grass gasping at the roots of the maple trees. The coarse, fall grasses have choked out the more delicate lawn turf. And while the prolonged dry spell of the past several weeks have halted the grass growth, those straggly weeds just keep thriving.

Still, looking out the kitchen window over a raggy lawn bothers me. So, the mower is fired up one more time to trim those indominatible weeds and level off the more enthusiastic clumps of fall growth. The thatch residue is thin enough it is no longer necessary to rake and gather the clippings. No matter, since the trimmings are no longer needed to mulch the fading veggie patch. And the low-moisture grass no longer gives off that intense, wonderful smell of new-mown lawn.

But the lawn mower seat makes a great observation post to assess the year's horticultural successes and failures. Invasive grass is having its way with the daylilies and the rosebushes need to be trimmed. Last fall's butterfly bush addition — bought on sale and partially flattened during the winter by a stampede of invading cows — has tripled in size and continues to bloom. Canna roots dug up two years ago, and which froze to mush overnight in a chilling temperature drop, have sent up new shoots this year from tiny bits of root apparently left behind in the ground.

And the muliple plants propagated from one double-blossomed, fushia-shaded geranium given by a friend a couple of years ago continue to bloom cheerfully in the border.

Such surprises are the delights that keep gardeners always digging ahead toward another year.

And keeps lawn mowing — for the most part — more a pleasure than a chore.

Even as we mow the aging grass.

One more time.

ANSWER — Here are some more recipes for thirst quenches for hay crews. The recipes had been requested by Peter Jueress, Pleasant Valley, N.Y. Thanks to Elam Ebersole, Bird-in-Hand, and others for sending recipes.

Iced Tea

7 Lipton tea bags in one quart hot water. Let set for 10 to 15 minutes. Take bags out and add 1 cup sugar, ½ cup Country Time lemonade, and fill a gallon jar with water. Serve with ice.

Peppermint Water

Mix together:
1 teaspoon Peppermint extract or to taste
1 cup sugar
1 gallon water

Grapefruitade

Betty Light, Lebanon, writes that when she was young and working in the fields, her mother made several drinks but the family thought Grapefruitade was the best to beat thirst. For the mixture:

Fill a 2-quart jar one-third full with grapefruit juice. Add 1 cup sugar and fill the jar with water. Put into the refrigerator to get cold.

Thanks to Jim Coker of SLC heifers, Oley, who writes that they have found that a large slice of cold watermelon quenches thirst better than other liquids. He writes that liquids tend to bloat a person before thirst is quenched but watermelon stays in the mouth longer and is more satisfying.

Cook's Question

ANSWER — A Pennsdale reader wanted instructions on canning potatoes. Thanks to Joyce Hoffman, East Berlin, for sending the following recipe.

Canned Potatoes

Wash, scrape, and rinse freshly dug potatoes. Dice or slice potatoes and pack into clean jars. Add water to rim and add ½ -teaspoon salt to each pint or 1 teaspoon to each quart. Put lid and band on and process 45 minutes in boiling water bath. Nellie Strite writes that she processes them for three hours.

These are great for soups, scalloped potatoes, or breakfast. Just rinse off when you open the jar and they are ready to use.

Correction — Nellie Strite said that the recipe for Christmas Pickles should have read that the pickles can be used two days after preparing and not 21 days. For those who missed the recipe, here is one from DeeDee Myer's, a well-known cook. Thanks to many other readers for sending recipes.

Christmas Pickles

3 cups vinegar
3 cups sugar
⅓ cup salt
1 tablespoon turmeric
1 tablespoon whole celery seed
1 tablespoon mustard seed

Let set until sugar dissolves, slice, and layer into a gallon jar:

6 large cucumbers
3 onions
2 green peppers

Pour cold liquid over the pickles and put in refrigerator. It is not necessary to process them. They are called Christmas pickles because they keep well in the refrigerator until Christmas.

Here is an entirely different recipe which results in red pickles. Mary Davis, Ebensburg, writes that she has used the recipe for 10 years and people can not believe they are eating cucumbers.

Christmas Pickles

8 or 9 large, ripe cucumbers
7 cups white vinegar
2 cups granulated sugar
½ teaspoon oil of cloves
½ teaspoon oil of cloves
3 jars maraschino cherries

Peel cucumbers. Remove seeds, cut into 1-inch pieces. put into large enameled or stainless steel kettle. Add water to cover, simmer until barely tender, about 10 minutes. Remove, drain well, put into large glass or crockery bowl. Combine sugar, vinegar, oils, and bring to a boil.

Pour over cucumbers. Cover and let stand overnight at room temperature.

Second day: drain off syrup and bring to a boil. Pour over cucumbers and let stand overnight.

Third day: Put cucumbers and syrup in large kettle. Bring to a boil. Add 3 jars of maraschino cherries and their juice (add more if you want a redder color pickle or add red food coloring). Return to a boil. Ladle into hot pint jars, leaving ½ -inch headspace. Seal and process in boiling water canner for 10 minutes after water is boiling. Yields: 7 pints.

Brain Development: Parents And The Neuron Connection

When babies are born they appear so helpless, yet thousands of brain cells are already connected. These early connections involve all the basic body functions, recognition of sound, light, and touch, and the groundwork for the development of a physical, mental, and social human being.

Through new brain-imaging technology, scientists have given parents the opportunity to understand how the brain functions and how important a child's environment is especially during the first three years. We have only begun to understand the complexities of the growing brain but the research can begin to answer the age old question of nature versus nurture?

Only about 20 years ago, neuroscientists believed that the genes we are born with determine the structure of our brains and how individuals interact with the world. Today we know that heredity may determine the basic number of neurons (brain cells) children are born with and their initial arrangement; however, this is merely a framework. A child's environment has enormous impact on how the circuits of the brain will be laid. Nature and nurture together — not either alone, determines the outcome of our lives.

When a child is born, the brain produces trillions more neurons and synapses (connections) than ultimately needed. Positive interactions with caring adults simulate a child's brain profoundly, causing synapses to grow and existing connections to be strengthened. Those being used become permanent fixtures; those that are not used tend to be eliminated. If a child receives little stimulation early on, synapses will not sprout or develop, and the brain will make fewer connections.

During the early months of life, the brain connections grow quickly in response to outside stimulation. Scientists have determined that the neurons for vision begin sending messages back and forth rapidly at two to four months; therefore, it is important to provide vivid and varied images for young children. Language is also an important connection made during the first six months. Children will respond with equal interest to the sounds of all languages, but soon develop "perceptual maps" that direct them toward the sounds of the language they hear most frequently. This perceptual map eventually accounts for regional accents as the first sounds focus on vowels. Studies show talking to an infant increases the number of words that will be recognized and eventually come to understand.

A word of warning, research does not suggest drilling children in alphabet songs from different languages or using flash cards to promote rote memorization of letters and numbers. Children learn any language best in the context of meaningful, day-to-day interactions.

Research has also found that children who are emotionally neglected or abandoned early in life are more likely to have difficulty in learning. It is also suggested that these children may have more trouble experiencing empathy, attachment, and emotional expression in general. This emphasizes the importance of providing caring, interactive caregiving for young children.

While scientists have found that the early years may be even more important than anticipated, human development continues throughout the life span. Be aware and take advantage of these critical periods of development that nature has provided.

As parents, grandparents, and caring adults, it is critical that opportunities are created for children ro reach their potential by helping them make all the connections possible. Take time to talk, listen, and be with children in a nurturing environment. These early connections have lasting impacts for everyone.

For more information on parenting young children, call your local county Cooperative Extension office.

ANSWER — A Shippensburg reader wanted a recipe for stromboli. Thanks to Elam Ebersol, Bird-in-Hand, for sending a recipe.

Stromboli

1 tablespoon yeast
1 cup warm water
1 teaspoon sugar
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons oil
3 cups bread flour

Dissolve yeast in warm water, slowly add flour and remaining ingredients. Let rise for 30 minutes. Roll in three long strips, wide enough so you can overlap each side.

Pour pizza sauce in middle then layers slices of ham, cheese, bologna, and cheese again.

You can use any kind of meat. Or you can add peppers, onions, and mushrooms or whatever suits your taste.

Overlap one side then the other side and press ends to close. Rub with vegetable oil on top and sprinkle with seasoned salt. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes or until it tests done.

Dustin Goes To Great Lengths To Measure Sunflowers

Pennsylvania Furnace (Huntingdon Co.) — Every day the sunflowers that Dustin Fleck planted are growing taller and taller.

Long ago, the flowers' height surpassed Dustin's reach. He was curious: how tall were those sunflowers that towered over his head?

With the help of his mom Karen and dad Tim, Dustin taped together four yard sticks end to end. He found out the sunflowers are 12-feet high.

Dustin is very proud of his sunflowers. Every year the Fleck family plants sunflowers among many other vegetables and flowers.

"We didn't do anything differently this year," his mom said of the sunflowers unusual growth. "My husband just put manure on and tilled it into the soil before planting the seeds."

Dustin loves working in the garden, especially picking the produce.

His mom said that Dustin is so eager to pick things that she needs to beg him to wait until the plants mature.

"He's a real outdoors boy. He loves to fish and hunt. And, he loves insects—he'll pick up anything to examine," she said.

Dustin attends first grade at Ferguson Township Elementary School. Although he loves school, he is always eager to return home to help his dad on the beef farm and in the garden.

Six-year-old Dustin Fleck measures his 12-foot tall sunflowers.

How do apples ripen?
The warm days and cool nights of fall make sweet, juicy, crisp apples just right for picking.
Apples ripen — or get sweeter — by changing the starches in the fruit to sugars. Colder temperatures make apples convert the starches faster. And, even if you picked a mature apple before it was completely ripe, it would still continue to ripen off the tree. But making sure the apple doesn't turn into a mushy mess takes some plant biology know-how.
When an apple is on the tree, it acts a lot like a leaf. It takes in carbon dioxide from the air and gives off oxygen. Horticulturists call this form of plant breathing respiration. Once an apple is picked, it "breathes" the other way, taking in oxygen and giving off carbon dioxide and water. Reducing the amount of water lost is key to keeping apples crisp. When an apple loses water, it gets softer because there is less water pressure inside the cells to keep the fruit firm.
Decreasing the amount of oxygen where apples are stored forces them into a kind of hibernation. The respiration slows down, so the apple loses less water. That's why apple growers store fruit in huge coolers. They can pick the fruit a little before ripening, ship it to a far-away destination, and still sell crisp, flavorful, ripe fruit. And, if you keep your fresh-bought apples in the refrigerator, a bag of apples will have a better chance of staying tasty for you to eat!
Scientifically yours,

The Roth IRA: Is It For Me?

The stock market has been turbulent in recent weeks, and many people are wondering how all this will affect their investments and retirement accounts. It may have you thinking about your options for saving for your future.

The Roth IRA is a new investment tool, created by the federal government this year. Its features differ from traditional IRAs in several ways, making it attractive to a different group of investors.

According to Natalie Choate, attorney with Bingham, Dana, L.L.P. in Boston, in "An Introduction to Roth IRAs," "The basic idea of this new breed of IRA is that contributions are nondeductible, but 'qualified distributions' are tax free . . . The Roth IRA offers other benefits: no minimum required distributions during life; no maximum age for making contributions; and even a favorable rule for tax treatment of 'non-qualified' distributions."

The Roth IRA is available to single taxpayers whose adjusted gross income (AGI) is below $95,000; to married taxpayers filing a joint return with an AGI below $150,000. A married individual filing a separate return is not eligible for this IRA. Some financial advisers suggest that individuals making less than $40,000 and couples making less than $60,000 are often better off choosing a traditional IRA because they usually will need their retirment plan earnings within a few years of retirement and will be in a low tax bracket in their retirement years.

Families may choose to rollover funds from a traditional IRA into a Roth IRA or they may make new contributions up to $2,000 annually. In order to get the tax-free earnings, these funds must remain untouched in the account for five years. Laura Sanders, Forbes magazine, says, "The longer you can afford to let the account grow until you draw on it, the greater the advantage of being in a Roth."

This IRA is only available to people who are working. Retirees who receive no "compensation income" cannot contribute to this. They may be able to roll over other IRA funds in to a conversion Roth IRA. One special rule exists in 1998 only: If a person decides to transfer funds from a traditional IRA to a Roth IRA, the income that he will have to pay tax on will be spread out over the next four years. He is, therefore, less likely to be bumped into an extremely high tax bracket during the year of the transfer.

After 1998, this advantage won't exist. Any individual converting after this year will need to pay taxes on the entire balance of the account as if it were income earned that year.

What individuals might want to choose a Roth IRA over a traditional IRA? An investor who:

- is over 70 years old and wants to keep making tax-free investments or doesn't need income distributions that he would be required to take from a traditional IRA.
- expects to live a long time in retirement and wants to stretch his distributions out over more years rather than taking out large amounts beginning at age 70.
- is looking for alternative, cleaner ways to pass assets on to beneficiaries in an estate plan.
- has a current tax bracket that is fairly similar to the one he will be in during his retirement years.
- has many years to invest in the IRA before retiring and is in an average tax bracket.
- wants to accumulate additional retirement savings but is ineligible for the traditional IRA because he already participates in an employee-sponsored retirement fund.
- wants to purchase a first home, five years in the future. He may withdraw up to $10,000 from a Roth IRA, penalty free for a down payment on a first home if the account is more than five years old.

No matter whay type of IRA plan you choose, it's important to investigate the company and investment history of the particular investment. Just like any mutual funds, company stocks, or annuities, IRA plans can vary in the amount of returns they generate for your investment. Research the company and choose wisely.

If you'd like to do more research on the Roth IRA as an investment tool, check out the Internet site <http://www.rothira.com>. This site has excellent background information, links to news magazine articles, personal calculators, and other expert advice.

If you are struggling to find money to put in a retirement account, you may be interested in a free program offered by Cooperative Extension called Money 2000. This program which includes free newsletters filled with money-saving ideas is designed to help people reduce their family debts or increase their savings. Each family that enrolls will set a personal goal — one suggested goal is to save $2,000 by the end of the year 2000. That may end up being your first contribution to an IRA. Contact your local Cooperative Extension Office for more information on this program.

Is Fabric Softener Spotting Your Clothes?

Liquid softener should be thoroughly mixed with water before putting it into the washer or use the fabric softener dispenser in your washer which automatically combines it with water.

Fabric softener dryer sheets should be placed on top of the wet clothes and tumbled immediately.

Microfiber and satin type materials are very susceptible to softener staining in the dryer. If this happens, wet the fabrice and rub the spot with bar soap (such as ivory) and relaunder.

101-Year-Old Looks To The Turn Of The Century

GAIL STROCK
Mifflin Co. Correspondent

LEWISTOWN, (Mifflin Co.) — Like most of us, Walter Stumpff's goal is to see this century turn into a new millenium. That's not so unusual, except that, at 101, Walter saw the turn of the last century.

Walter was born in 1897 when President William McKinley took office. The following year, the Spanish-American War broke out. Walter remembers seeing Hayley's Comet in 1910 as a 13-year-old. He remembers the Titanic tragedy two years later.

Originally from Lewistown, Walter now lives with his daughter, Nancy, and her husbnad, Wallace Rummel, in Florida Tenant farmers Raymond and Janet Witmer live at the farm year round. Each summer, Walter, Wallace, Nancy return to the Stumpff farm on Middle Road near Lewistown to make repairs and to reminisce.

"My mother was a southern belle," Nancy begins "She was raised with maids in the home. My father waited eight years to marry her He waited until he paid off the farm debt. A lot of her relatives barely forgave her for marrying a Yankee. It was a hard life. He worked the farm and worked full time at the post office too."

The Stumpffs sold milk, eggs, chickens, and fruit from their farm. The basement of the farmhouse still houses the 6,000-egg electric hatchery. Walter's father bought the farm in 1920, dashing Walter's dream of becoming a veterinarian. Walter served in World War I, but never saw battle.

"The doctor processing the men to go overseas told my father that he (Walter) had some fatal disease and that he wouldn't live long! I think the doctor died long before Dad!" Nancy said.

During the war, Walter served at Camp Lee in Richmond as a Sergeant First Class in charge of the motor pool Following church one Sunday, a man invited several soldiers to his home for dinner. there, Walter met Jessie, his future wife. Walter courted Jessie for eight years before bringing his bride to Pennsylvania. He started working for the post office in 1922, delivering mail by horse and buggy Daughter Nancy and son Walter, Jr., were born, and Walter advanced to delivering mail by motorcycle with side car.

Walter Stumpff lives with his daughter and husband, Wallace and Nancy Rummel, but he delights in visiting his Mifflin County farm to reminisce with tenant farmers.

"Tell about the time you delivered the artificial leg," Wallace prompts.

"I delivered from Lewistown to McVeytown to Ryde and retraced to Hawstone then back to the post office—67 miles. After World War II, a man up at Ryde needed the artificial leg. It came in the mail.

"I used to tease these girls during the war too. I pretended there wasn't a letter for them (from their boyfriend) and start to drive away. They'd chase me."

Walter deliverd mail for 35 years. People often placed money for mail orders, grocery lists and baked goods in their mailboxes for Walter. At the end of the day, Walter always returned home to the farm to work. Nancy remembers working beside her father well past dark. She also remembers his favorite sayings.

"The two I remember most are, "Eat it up, wear it out, or make it do, and "A tired body and good conscience makes for a good night's sleep."

A man of faith, Walter still kneels to pray twice a day. He keeps Susanna Wesley's definition of sin posted on the wall of his farmhouse.

"What is Sin?

Whatever weakens your reason,

Impairs the tenderness of your conscience,

Obscures your sense of God,

Or takes off the relish of spiritual things—

Whatever increased the authority of your body over your mind.

That thing to you is Sin."

What's Walter's secret to living to 100?

Don't die at 99!

Hinish Farm Market Is Family Affair

LINDA WILLIAMS
Bedford Co. Correspondent

MARTINSBURG (Blair Co.) — Elf-size houses and a bright array of zinnias, bachelor buttons, snapdragons, and other festive flowers decorate the front lawn of the family-owned, six-year-old, Hinish Farm Market.

It makes one want to stop and step inside where you are greeted by fruity scents and bright surroundings. Tables are laden with the latest Hinish Harvest.

Attractive antiques decorate the walls and a craft corner with consignment contributors adds gusto causing the shopper to dig a little deeper. Many of the antiques have come from the Hinish attics or from shoppers or friends who wish to contribute to the decor.

A bakery offering both family recipes and a few mixed goodies is another calling card for stopping by the Hinish Market as is the hand-dipped ice cream.

"We all work together for the end result," says Bernard Hinish, who along with his wife, Lou Ann, daughter Kim Frederick, son Neil and daughter, Wendy Guyer, and loyal employees, operate the market.

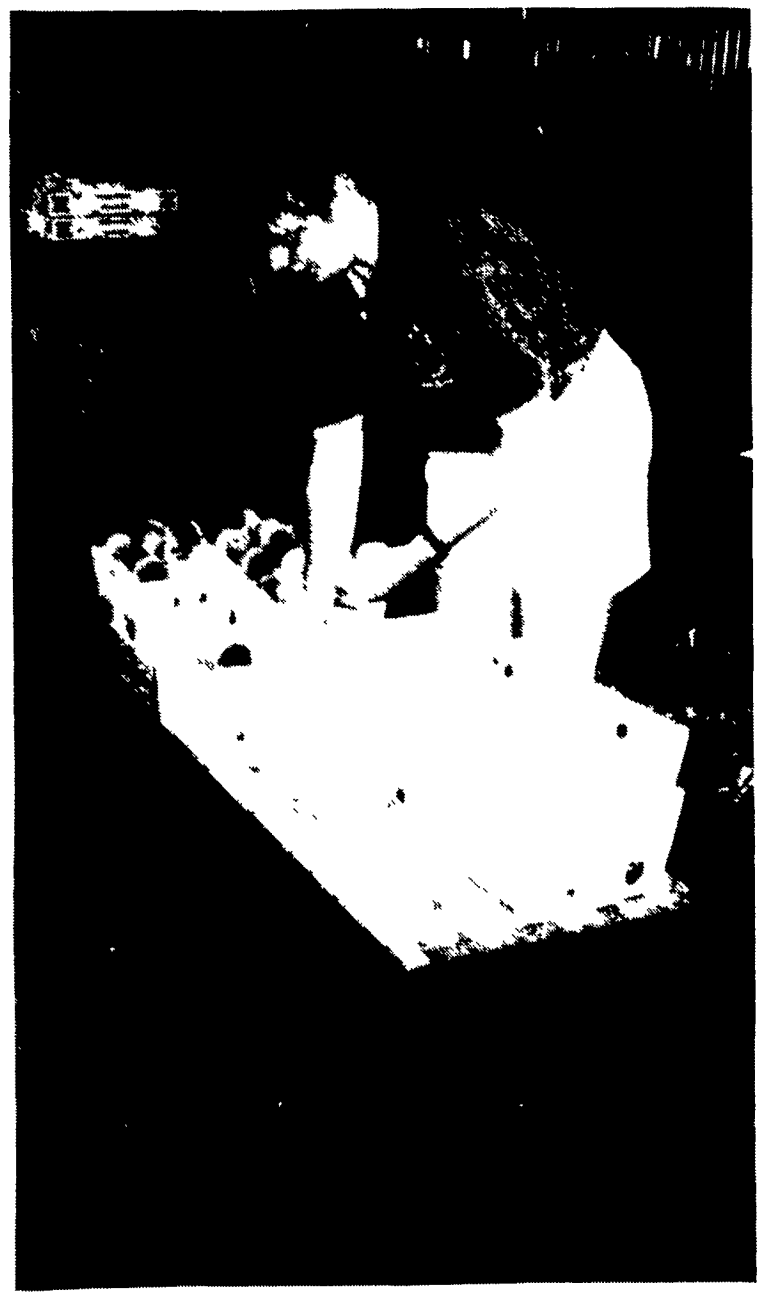
Two hundred and twenty-five acres of the 600-acre Hinish farm are in trees including cherry, peach, and apple. All of the fruit is sold at the market and additional apples are marketed wholesale.

"Apples are our mainstay," says Bernard, "We raise 110,000 to 120,000 bushel per year.

The Hinish family also grows asparagus, cantaloupe, pumpkins, potatoes, sweet corn, cabbage, and squash.

Daughter Wendy raises the flowers which both decorate the lawn and are sold as cut flowers. "It's done even better than we had expected," says Wendy. "But, it's a lot of work to be able to constantly keep enough flowers blooming for sale." Their biggest order came this summer when a local bride purchased her cut flowers from the Hinish Market and created her own bouquets.

It's Wendy's husband, Jay Guyer, who creates the "kid/elf size" houses in front of the shop. There's a miniature house and a tot-sized firehouse. Jay has started his own side business known as "Fantasy Playhouses."



Kim sorts peaches.

Daughter Kim is one of the mainstays inside the market sorting and cleaning baskets of bright red and yellow peaches; wrapping freshly picked sweet corn; piling up fresh grown cantaloupe in an attractive display; or working the cash register. "There's always something to do," Kim smiles.

Lou Ann, likewise, handles almost any inside job including the baking. "Having a bakery is hard work," she admits. "It means starting around 4 or 5 a.m. in order to be ready for the store to open. And, everyone only wants fresh items." Lou Ann has two local ladies who help with the baking.

It's Neil who enjoys the outside working, seeing that the fruit is harvested and delivered to the market.

He said, "When we can get away from here, we always take time to visit other farm markets to see what we might or might not want to add to own business."

One good seller added recently has been homemade jellies and pickles, purchased from another manufacturer, but bearning the Hinish label.

Because of the apples, the Hinishes are able to keep their market open year round. At Christmas they sell trees, wreaths, and fruit baskets.

With two retirement homes in nearby Martinsburg, there's a big demand for the fruit baskets. "We find that if we deliver, we can do well in other neighboring towns," Bernard adds.

"After the Christmas season, we close for about two weeks to take inventory and regroup for a new season," Lou Ann says.

The family agrees, it's hard but enjoyable work.

Neil picks peaches and then delivers them to the market.

Long time employees Gloria Miller and Cathy Dodson at work in the store.

Lou Ann and Bernard have worked hard to built their market.

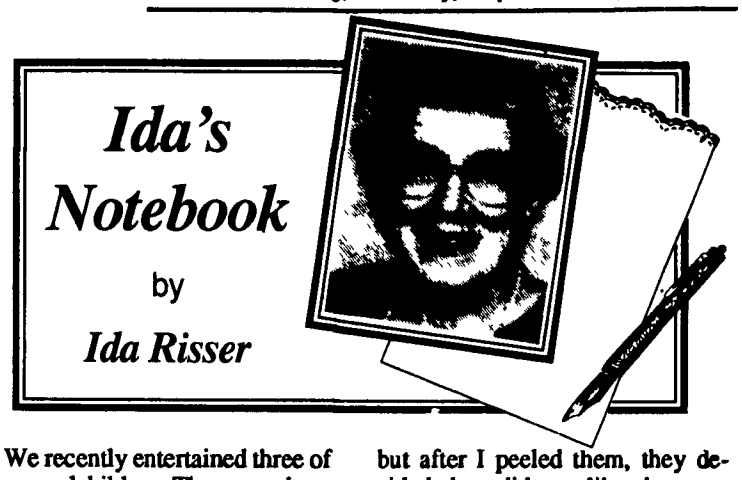
Is Olean For You?

LEESPORT (Berks Co.) — OLEAN has been in the news a lot lately. OLEAN is Procter & Gamble's brand name for olestra, a cooking oil made from common ingredients processed in a new way so it is not absorbed by the body. Because it is not absorbed, OLEAN add no fat or calories to salty snacks such as potato chips, tortilla chips, and crackers.

People who crave salty snacks but are concerned about weight gain, are thrilled to have an alternative to fat-laded potato chips and snack crackers. Many report no difference in taste between original snacks and those fried in OLEAN.

OLEAN was throughly tested by 20,000 people and approved by the FDA. Although reports of side effects such as upset stomachs persist, in actual testing, no more side effects from eating snacks made with OLEAN than those prepared otherwise were reported.

A specified amount of vitamins A, D, E, and K are added to OLEAN snacks to offset its potential to reduce the absorption of these fat-soluble vitamins. Adding these vitamins to OLEAN snacks ensures that a person's vitamin levels are not reduced below the U.S. recommended daily intake.



We recently entertained three of our grandchildren. They were here all day and we did many things together. Let me tell you some of the jobs that we accomplished.

They are three, four, and seven years old. In the garden we picked green beans for dinner and a big bucket of tomatoes. Then they saw the cherry tomatoes and began to fill a small bucket with them. The oldest boy thought I should sell them, but I told him we will give them away.

The youngest girl and I baked a big chocolate cake and we peeled potatoes for French fries for dinner. They asked me how I make tea and so we went outside and gathered tender stems from two kinds of mint tea beside the garage, and I steeped it.

Earlier I had gathered some large chestnuts. So, I cooked a few but after I peeled them, they decided they did not like the nuts, and so I ate them. We took a walk to pick goldenrod and I saw pokeweed berries were ripe. When I mashed them, they had a beautiful pink-lavendar juice to use for painting. The youngest make pages and pages of pretty scrawls and the others printed letters for the refrigerator door.

Besides these things, we sat on the back porch glider and I told them stories about the animals of their choice. Next we played "Hide and Seek," "Who has the Button," and "Hide the Thimble."

The boys played soccer with their own equipment in our front yard. And, scattered among all of this activity they also watched some children's programs on television and then "rested" for an hour in the basement playroom.

Natalie Foxwell Is State Delegate To National 4-H

GAY BROWNLEE
Somerset Co. Correspondent

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — A sewing project of powder blue — a two-pice wool gabardine jacket and trouser ensemble — is Natalie Foxwell's right of passage to the National 4-H Congress coming up in Atlanta, Ga. She is the state delegate from Pennsylvania.

At age 15, the Buffalo Creek 4-H Club member and daughter of Gary and Bonnie Foxwell, garnered the prestigious honor at the state 4-H Fashion Revue, held recently at Pennsylvania State University campus.

The stylish suit's double-breasted jacket with set-in seams and three-piece notch collar, is shown to perfection on the dark-haired teen-ager.

A fixed waistband, button closure and front zipper are featured in the pleated pants.

To fulline the suit, Natalie had to develop her own pattern because pieces for lining weren't included with the design.

"Although it wasn't totally elaborate," she reported, "it took time and patience."

The lining had to be smaller than the garment itself, yet allow for roomy comfort.

"I've learned over the years, that I cannot follow a pattern," she said.

She expects to achieve a perfect fit, altering the pattern to match her figure is the rule not the exception.

The competition at Penn State was tough so upon hearing the announcement of her name as the winner was a numbing experience during the first few seconds that followed.

"When they called my name, I turned to the guy next to me and asked, 'Is that me?'" she said.

The ability to sew her own clothes has given Natalie an edge in both her clothes budget and fit and style. Also she can incorporate originality and maintain the trend of current fashions.

Giving community service, as she did last June in Salisbury following a tornado disaster in southern Somerset County, was a two-week, daily affair. Every day she and her brother, Tim, 12, worked with their mother and others who served thousands of meals to volunteers helping with the clean-up in the aftermath.

At the Meyersdale Grace Brethren Church, Natalie sings with a youth ensemble which calls itself Inspiration.

She is a sophomore enrolled in the advanced college preparatory course at the Meyersdale Area High School and a member of the PSAT 1000+ Club.

Besides receiving the Presidential Academic Achievement Award and Biology Award, Natalie, a musician, is in a band chorus and Spanish Club member.

What You Should Know About Black Walnuts

WOOSTER, Ohio — If you peel off the hull of a black walnut, crack the shell and promptly eat the meat inside, you won't die from a toxic overload — but it won't be culinary delight, either. On the other hand, if you properly harvest and cure black walnuts, the meat can be quite tasty.

Black walnuts are best harvested when they begin to drop but are still green, said Gregory Miller, owner of Empire Chestnut Company, Carrollton, Ohio. He spoke on raising edible nut trees at the Tri-State Master Gardeners Conference held this summer at Ohio State University.

To properly harvest black walnuts, you should immediately remove the hulls, wash the shelled nuts in water, and then spread them to dry in a garage or other unheated building. Removing the hulls keeps the kernels light-colored and prevents the bitter taste most people associate with black walnuts.

"People expect black walnuts to have dark meat," Miller said. "They actually should have light meat; the color should be as light as California walnuts."

Black walnut trees are one of several nut trees that homeowners might consider growing, Miller said. They are native to North America, tolerate a wide range of soils, need little spraying and are large, strong trees with open branching.

On the downside, leaf-eating insects leave honeydew droppings, and the tree is prone to anthracnose, a disease that causes early leaf drop. And, if you are just looking for a unique shade tree, black walnuts can be a homeowner's scourge. The black walnut trees' roots release a toxin called juglone, which can kill a wide variety of plants growing wherever its roots reach. (Ask your local Extension office for information of plants that will grow under black walnut trees, or search the Internet site (http://ohioline.ag.ohio-state.edu).

As for other kinds of edible nut trees, shagbark hickory, pecan, hazel, chestnut, heartnut, butternut, chinkapin, beech and Persian walnut — also called California walnut and English walnut — are all suitable choices for sites that have well-drained, fertile soil.

To choose an edible nut tree, Miller recommends you first evaluate the space available and your soil conditions. Most nut trees require full sun, and the size can vary from the large shrubs of hazel and chinkapin to the large trees of black walnut and pecan. If you live where the soil is predominantly clay, look into hazels. They tolerate wet, heavy soils the best. Chestnuts tolerate it the least.

The type of tree you should plant also depends on if you plan to use it as a hobby to collect the nuts for food or to attract wildlife, or as a business venture. Also, be sure to carefully evaluate how much time you are willing to devote to the trees. While edible nut trees make good shade trees, they are somewhat work intensive, Miller warns. If you are growing them for the meat, all nuts must be promptly harvested and dried. Some kinds require several sprayings a year. Even if your goal is to watch squirrels chatter back and forth among the branches, you still have to clean the catkins that develop each spring. Catkins are the scaly spikes of the trees' unisex flowers.

For more information on the virtues — and vices — of different edible nut trees and where to purchase them, contact the Ohio Nut Growers Association, c/o Bruce Bauman, 9870 Palmer Road, New Castle, Ohio 45344.

Cooking Sprays Do Have Fat, Calories

I like to use spray cans of cooking oil to coat the frying pan and even "butter" my corn on the cob. I can hardly believe they contain no fat or calories, though. How can that be, when the first ingredient listed is oil?

You're right to be skeptical, but those oil sprays are certainly within their rights to claim "no" fat or calories. The official rule is that any product can claim to be "fat free" if it contains less than a half-gram of fat per serving. A food can be "calorie free" if it contains less than five calories per serving. As long as the spray you use fits those criteria, you'll probably see "no fat or calories" on the label somewhere.

As with any food, serving size is key here. Most cooking sprays say a "serving" is a shot of spray ⅓ of a second long. If you can whistle the tune to Jeopardy while you spray your corn on the cob with butter-flavored spray, you're getting a lot more fat and calories than what manufacturers call a serving.

Some of those sprays give additional information comparing fat and calorie content of their product to oil or margarine, for example. In that informational panel, you'll find out how many calories are in a longer spray (say, a full second). That can help you figure out what you're actually spraying on your pan — or your corn-on-the-cob.

If the spray you sue doesn't have that kind of additional information, you can make a guesstimate. For example, you know the spray has no more than a half-gram of fat and no more than 5 calories per serving. So, go ahead and use those figures in your calculations. For example, if the spray's "serving size" is one-third of a second, and if you usually use a five-second spray, then multiply a half-gram of fat by 15 and 4 caloreis by 15. At mosts, your spray would add 7.5 grams of fat and 75 calories to your meal. That's about what you'd get with two teaspoons of margarine.

On the other hand, if you limit yourself to one-second spray, then your multiplication factor would be three, you'd get, at most, 1.5 grams of fat and 15 calories from your spray.

Remember, though, that at best this is a guess. If you're really interested, you might want to call the manufacturer to find out more about the fat and calorie content in your favorite cooking spray.

Dairy Foods Help Lower Blood Pressure

PITTSBURGH (Allegheny Co.) — The American Society of Hypertension is telling Americans that adjusting menu — instead of medication — should be the first line of defense fo fight high blood pressure. Studies suggest that a healthy diet rich in lowfat milk and other lowfat dairy products may help lower the risk of high blood pressure.

At least four nutrition studies have suggested that when about three servings of fat free or lowfat milk were included daily, blood pressure was more likely to be normal. Conversely, a diet lacking calcium and dairy foods resulted in an increased risk of hypertension.

One of these studies, dubbed DASH, or Dietary Approaches to Stop Hypertension, examined the impact of the DASH Diet, which is low in fat and includes 2-3 servings of lowfat/fat free milk and milk product and 8 to 10 servings of fruits and vegetables each day. Following the DASH Diet significantly lowered the blood pressure of the participants in the study.

"This means that people with mild hypertension can lower their blood pressure by more natural means and potentially reduce the amount of medication they have to take," says Cindy Weimer, spokesperson for the Pennsylvania Dairy Promotion Program. "And the recommended diet is one you will enjoy; it is certainly more enjoyable, safer and less expensive than medication."

On behalf of PDPP, nutrition specialists have recently distributed this news to regional consumer press and will distribute this information to regional key contacts, including cardiologists and other leading health professionals. DASH patient education materials are currently being marketed to these audiences. In addition, a petition has been filed with the Food and Drug Administration to consider the role of lowfat dairy products in reducing blood pressure as a new food label claim.

Somerset Fall Classic Selects Champions

MEYERSDALE (Somerset Co.) — Dividing-Ridge Road Ila, consigned by Dean E. Hillegass, of Dividing Ridge Road, Berlin led the way for good averages at the Somerset Fall Classic, sponsored by the Somerset County Holstein Club.

She was purchased for $2,500 by Ed Crossland, Cumberland, Md., who rents a farm near Grantsville, Garrett County, and looks for respectable type in the dairy animals prior to sinking in his money.

"I like ones with more type," Crossland said about the Blackstar daughter born February 24, 1995, and fresh on July 12, 1998. "I know that Hillegasses have a good healthy herd," he said.

Some 25 milking animals that were consigned averaged a price of $1,750, according to a sale statistician.

There were 12 bred heifers that averaged $1,575; four calves under six month averaged $669, she reported.

One lot of four embryos totaled $700.

The second highest price in the sale — $2,400 — was paid for Shergless Odessy Emily born Feb. 3, 1996 and consigned by Don and Cheryl Glessner, Wills Church Road, Berlin, to buyer Ken Nicholson from Normalville.

Argienda Delecat FP Dolly, born August 3, 1995 and fresh last June 30 placed as the third high seller at $2,300 to Brent Lowmaster of Carrolltown.

Lowmaster purchased eight enimals at the sale.

"She's a lot of cow," observed auctioneer Clark Yoder of Salisbury, about Dolly. "A powerful cow."

Arlen Maust of Bittinger Road, Grantsville, Md. was the consignor.

The sale total for 44 lots in which five cows sold for over $2,000, was $66,025.

"It was a good sale," was heard repeatedly, when the event was concluded.

The Casselman Valley District of the Mennonite Disaster Service which has vigorously been helping farmers and other residents rebuild following back to back tornadoes on May 31 and June 2 in southern Somerset County, was recognized by the county Holstein Club, for its outstanding response.

With one heifer donated by True-Vine Holsteins, Ridgely, West Virginia, the club held a sale of items donated by businesses and individuals prior to the main event to raise money for the MDS work.

The proceeds of $2,570.50 were presented to the MDS Casselman Valley District secretary-treasurer, Raymond G. Yoder, Grantsville, Md.

Jeffrey W. Cogan, from Martinsburg (Pa.) bought the heifer, born August 7, 1996, for $1,400.

True-Vine Integrity Life was bred December 27, 1997 to Startmore Royalist-ET*TL.

Oren Bender, Accident, Md. did the pedigrees.

Ringmen were Dale Wack and Thad Sturgeon.

John Fox and Dan Carr co-chaired the sale.

The Somerset Junior Holstein Club, as always, raised money for its treasury, by preparing chicken barbecue dinners and other refreshments to sell during the evening.

Mini Seminar Teaches Basic Dairy Promotion To 109

UNIVERSITY PARK (Centre Co.) — One hundred and nine potential dairy promoters — 81 dairymaids, ambassadors and junior representatives and 28 adults gathered at Penn State's Ag Arena recently for the Ninth Annual Mini-Seminar.

The one-day seminar conducted by present and past state dairy royalty is designed to teach the basics of dairy promotion through several workshops and lectures. The workshops included information on cows, dairy industry facts, nutrition, public speaking, personal appearance and social conduct.

Also included this year for those who had previously attend the Mini-Seminar, was a workshop on going from young promoter to dairy princess or alternate and public speaking skills. The adults in attendance were given a tour of the PA DHIA Laboratory in the morning and joined the seminar program in the afternoon. Tammy Weaver of the Pennsylvania Beef Council spoke about the importance of promoting both beef and dairy products and how they are related.

The 1996-1997 Pennsylvania Dairy Princess Angela Werley and Alternate Merideth Weiderspahn conducted workshops for the young promoters assisted by reigning Pennsylvania Royalty Nichole Meabon, Heather Riley, and Eileen Murphy. The adult leaders for the seminar were PDPPS Coordinators Charlene Ranck and Wanda Yoder and Arlene Wilbur and Jan Harding the program directors. Also assisting was Donna Werley of Berks County.

Changing Cows Diet Could Reduce E-Coli

There was a study on changing cows' diets to reduce the risk from E. coli. Can this really work?

The study you're talking about does sound promising, but it will take a while to see if those findings translate into new farm practices.

In a nutshell, it seems that some strains of E. Coli — a common bacterium found in the intestinal tracts of humans and animals - have become resistant to stomach acid. Since our stomach acid doesn't kill them, they wreak havoc on us.

In a study published in Science, U.S. Department of Agriculture researchers at Cornell University found that switching cattle from their traditional diet of nutrition-packed grain to hay for five days before slaughter could reduce the number of E. coli bacteria resistant to stomach acid. That way, even if E. coli bacteria resistant to stomach acid. That way, even if E. coli is in your next burger, your stomach acid would be able to deal with it.

How does it do that? Ohio State University animal scientists suspect that the diet change suggested in the study would change the pH in the cattle's digestive tract enough to reduce acid-resistant E. coli numbers dramatically. In a grain-based diet, a cow's rumen usually has a pH of around 4.5 to 5.5. Feeding a cow hay instead of grain could change the pH to 6.5 or above. That sort of decrease in acidity could deliver a knock-out punch to bacteria that prefers a more acid environment.

However, this kind of change in feedlot management can't be done overnight. Feeding cows hay is moer time-consuming and takes a different type of equipment. Feedlots would also need to figure out where to store all that hay, which packs less nutrition per pound than grain (meaning cows need to eat more of it than grain). Also, no one knows how a sudden change in diet lilke this will affect the cattle, or if it will reduce their weight gain — a serious consideration for feedlot owners who get paid per pound.

Finally, researchers would like to see these results replicated in other studies before they make recommendations based on one study alone — even if it is in the highly respected Science — isn't something scientists are comfortable doing.

How Do You Clean Pillows?

The filling bed pillows can be down, foam, rubber, foam chips, polyester fiberfill, and kapok. The safest method to clean a pillow is based on the type of filling. If the filling in the pillow is fiberfill, it is usually best t launder it. Foam chips can harden with time and begin to crumble. It is probably best not to clean these types of pillows.

Down-filled pillows can be cleaned using a pillow machine. The down is removed from the ticking and placed directly into the pillow machine. The down is sometimes deodorized with ozone or sanitized with ultraviolet light. The feathers are then blown from the pillow machine in to a new ticking and additional feathers may be added to fill out the pillow if necessary.

Washing down pillows can present several problems. The fabric ticking may be too fragile to handle the agitation of washing and tumble dryiong or so soiled it would be best to replace it. Often the ticking is sized with water-sizing. This sizing helps hold the down in the ticking. If the sizing is removed in washing, feathers may leak out.

Doing your fall cleanup? To avoid picking up ticks in the out-of-doors keep out of infested areas including areas with heavy leaf litter, area frequented by deer and border areas along woods. The black-legged (Irodes scapularis) tick is the principal vector of Lyme disease in Pennsylvania. During the fall, ticks climb into brush and attach themselves to deer or humans. Humans bitten by an infected tick may develop Lyme disease. This disease was first identified in Lyme, Connecticut in 1975.

In infested areas, the black-legged tick is common wherever deer, migratory birds, voles, raccoons, possums, gray squirrels and woodland mice frequent. Ticks may be present in suburban lawns that adjoin woodland and open areas. Taking precautions against the black-legged tick involves using a registered pesticide on the property as well as teaching the family self-protection by dressing appropriately, using repellents in tick-infested areas and checking daily for the presence of ticks.

Nymphal ticks are present from late May through August. Survey for adult ticks weekly from early-October to mid-November. Nymphs are the most important vectors of Lyme disease to humans. The nymphs are small, about the size of a pin-head, and feed for a relatively short period of time The best time to survey is on calm days in early morning, just after the dew has dried.

Check often for ticks especially after leaving the woods. Look for a freckle that moves. Ticks may hitch a ride and fall off in the house Avoid tall grass and low brush. If hiking, walk in the middle of the trail.

Make a "tick-drag" by attaching a square yard of white flannel or corduroy to a pole, then attach rope to both ends of the pole to make a handle. Drag the cloth behind as you walk over the lawn and other areas of low vegetation. The drag must brush across the top of the lawn. Repeat several times. Ticks prefer shady, damp areas. Inspect the drag cloth evey 30 seconds for ticks. If you find ticks, handle them with tweezers or forceps, and store them in alcohol for later examination. Adult deer ticks are about the size of a sesame seed, oval, with four pair of legs and a flattened body. Nymphs are much smaller, about the size of a poppy seed.

To survey higher vegetation, attach the cloth to one end of a pole and push the cloth ahead of you. Ticks are usually found within 18 inches of the ground.

To establish a "tick-free zone" mow low-lying vegetation around the perimeter of your yard. This includes pruning low-lying shrubs.

If ticks are found, urge your family to follow safety precautions. Outdoors, they should wear long sleeves and pants, and tuck shirts into pants and pant legs into boots or socks. Everyone should inspect clothing regularly for ticks and inspect their bodies for ticks at least once a day. (It takes at least 24 hours of feeding on a person for ticks to transmit the bacteria that cause Lyme disease.) Keep outdoor clothing in plastic bags until it can be laundered. Use insect repellent containing moderate (20-50%) concentration of N, N-Diethyl-neta-toluamide (DEET) on the skin according to label directions

For more details and information on how to protect your family from deer ticks, contact Penn State Cooperative Extension at 717-840-7408 for a copy of "Lyme Disease, Extension Circular 366."

Sewing Savory-Transforming T-Shirts

(NAPS) — It's easy to add a little pizzazz to purchased T-shirts tank tops with unexpected embellishments, such as lace appliques or edgings, buttons, charms or ribbon roses.

When transforming T-shirts, select lace edgings or appliques from heavier laces, such as Venice lace, whihc shapes easily as it curves around the neckline. Wash both lace and T-shirt to preshrink them before embellishing.

To care for a decorated T-shirt, turn it inside out and wash it, using the gentle cycle of the machine, or hand wash it, to avoid damaging the trims.

To decorate a T-shirt with a lace applique, pin the applique in the desired position; zigzag around the outer edge of the applique.

If an openwork efect is desired, trim away the fabric under the applique one eighth of an inch from the stitches. For an openwork neckling, applique just above the neck edge and zigzag only along the lower edge of the applique.

Lace edging can be sewn along the lower front edge of the neckline ribbing or binding, stitching only along the upper edge of the lace and easing in fullness to allow the lace to lie flat.

Check to see that the shirt still fits easily over the head. Ribbon roses, pearls, or other embellishments can be hand-stitched over the lace.

The Singer Sewing Reference Library contains a wealth of information for the sewing enthusiast. It's available at Fabric & Craft Stores, or on-line at: amazon.com

Farm Women Societies

Lancaster Society 8

Lancaster Farm Women No. 8 met on Sept. 9 at the Donegal Presbyterian Church in Mount Joy.

Catherine Aument gave devotions. Hostesses were Catherine Aument, Cathy Brown, Carol Compton, Katie Lehman, Gloria Straub, and Evelyn Dannemann.

Guest speaker was State Representative Thomas Armstrong.

The next meeting will be on October 14 at the Farm & Home Center in Lancaster.

Lancaster Society 20

On Thursday, September 3, Lancaster Farm Women No. 20 met at the home of Vivian Hess with Verna Hess as co-hostess. Following the refreshments Marie Foose had the devotions and read from Proverbs 16 followed by a poem "Never Alone." The Lord's Prayer was prayed in unison. For the Roll Call each member answered by mentioning their favorite bird seen in their back yard. Marie Foose presided at the short business meeting during which it was decided to order pins for the 50-year members.

The program was very interesting as the speaker Nancy Norrow of Millersville and supervisor of the Senior Center brought with her a variety of beautiful butterflies. She explained the difference and pointed out the delicate coloring on some.

The meeting closed by singing "Brighten the Corner" to meet in October with Marie Foose and Barbara Stone as co-hostess

Lancaster Society 18

Lancaster Farm Women Society 18 held its September meeting at Leola Family Restaurant with husbands and guests at noon. Carol Gockley, known as the "bird lady" presented the program with live birds. Her perfect understanding of her birds and her knowledge and love produces surprising acts from these small creatures that we see daily but never imagine their abilities. Members learned never to use the term "bird brain" unless in commendation of some unusual and unexpected performance. Gockley had the ability to charm members and gentlemen guests, which is unusual during a 1½-hour presentation. It was delightful entertainment and not soon to be forgotten.

Elizabeth Diem conducted the short business meeting in the absent of society president Martha Stone. The fellowship and program was enjoyed by 23 members and guests.

Berks Society 6

Twelve members met in the home of Karen Hoffman for the September meeting of Berks County Farm Women Group #6.

The county convention was discussed.

Five members plan to attend Group 8's anniversary party.

The group plans to hold a bake sale on October 10.

The books were audited and found to be correct. Dorothy Wagner resigned as secretary and the position will be filled by Marion Gehris.

A "white elephant" auction followed the meeting.

The October meeting will be at Fiore's Restaurant to celebrate Farm Women's Day.

Entertaining Made Easy With Cheese

TOWSON, Md. — To show everyone how easy it is to create edible, artistic creations with cheese, Gale Gand, renowed pastry chef, has created two inventive party displays that are testaments ro easy, picture-perfect ideas for home entertaining.

Buttery, savory, spicy, velvety, crumbly — cheese is one of the most versatile, satisfyiong foods today. And with more than 200 domestic cheeses to choose from, the combinations are endless — particularly when it comes to entertaining. These ideas can be accomplished within minutes yet deliver sheer elegance to any gathering:

• It's hip to dip. Fondue has made a comeback as a glamorous dish of the '90s. Monterey Jack, Gorgonzola, Cheddar and Colby make delectable dips for fresh vegetable and fruits, tortellini, crusty bread, grilled chicken or shrimp.

• Get rid of garish garnishes. Use a vegetable peeler to create ornamental cheese slivers for topping salads, casseroles and side dishes.

• Fill 'er up! Create an edible serving bowl by carving out the center of a Parmesan or Gouda wheel. Fill the "bowl" with your favorite pasta or risotto and top with grated Parmesan.

• Serve a simple snack. Bake whole Brie wheels until slightly melted inside. Top with fresh fruit preserves and chopped nuts. Serve with assorted crackers or breads.

• Cheese . . . of course! A dessert cheese course makes a grand finale to any meal. Select three to four mildly flavored cheeses, such as Mild Cheddar, Havarti and Baby Swiss. Complement with fresh berries, sweet biscuits and cookies.

• Shall we hat dance? Melt Monterey Jack cheese in your favorite salsa to create a sensational cheese dip. Place a bowl of the dip in the center of a sombrero or cowboy hat and arrange tortilla chips along the rim.

• Layer it on! For a colorful party presentation, alternate tomato slices (¼ "-¼ " thick) with slices of fresh mozzarella of equal thickness around a cheese board. Serve with crackers or French bread.

• Tarts with heart. Create decadent apple-cheese tartlettes by cutting out pufff pastry in a variety of shapes and baking until golden brown. Top each puff pastry with a slice of Cheddar cheese and an apple wedge. Sprinkle with cinnamon and sugar and caramelize under the broiler.

To make the Cheese Palette, use a variety of cheeses with different colors and textures. Cut the cheeses in various-shaped, bite-size pieces. Allow 3 to 4 ounces of cheese per person. Place ½ cup each of your favorite dipping sauces into small, brightly colored bowls. Arrange the cheese pieces in the center of a large paint palette (available at any art store). Assemble an array of sauces: salsa, guacamole, barbecue sauce, spinach dip, honey mustard and hummus around the cheese. Garnish palette with paintbrushes and enjoy!

Plan to use at least three pounds of block-shaped cheeese to make an Autumn Wreath. Use a cheese slicer to make even slices (¼ "-¼ " thick). Using a few seasoned cheeses, like Jalapeno Jack, will give the appearance of changing leaves. To make leaves of various sizes, use cheese-leaf cutters (available in cookware and hardware stores.) In the center of a round cheese board, place a bowl of cranberry relish (available in most grocery stores). Place leaves in a ring around the bowl. Repeat layering with remaining leaves. Cover with plastic wrap and store in refrigerator until serving time. Use leftover cheese leaves for snacks, casseroles, pizzas and salads.

Quick Tips For At Home Pizzas With Pizzazz

Pass The Cheese Please!

• Top ready-made pizzas with everything from blue to cheddar cheese. For the ultimate in cheese pull, use cheddar, mozzarella, or Monterey Jack cheeses. Cheeses that provide less stretchability, like feta, blue or Brie, still provide great flavor.

• Shred, crumble or shave an additional half cup of cheese on top of the pizza.

• Combine two or more cheeses to add depth and flavor. Try these combinations: fresh mozzarella and Monterey Jack; smoked Gouda and Romano; or provolone and Parmesan.

"Doughn't" Forget the Crust

• Use pre-made crusts to make preparation a snap.

• Add flavor from the bottom up by sprinkling crust with melted butter and Parmesan cheese.

• Combine sun-dried tomatoes, sweet basil and Romano cheese and spread on crust before topping with other ingredients.

Savory Sauces

• Spice up pizzas with different flavored sauces: tomato and garlic, tomator and cheese, basil and pinenut pesto, or creamy Alfredo.

• Experiment with non-traditional sauces such as salsa, peanut or barbecue.

• Grate cheese like Parmesan and Romano into sauces to add thickness and flavor.

Create A Masterpiece

Create original pizzas that draw from ethnic or regional flavors by using easy-to-find, indigenous ingredients:

• Californian: Brush the pizza crust with garlic and olive oil, top with a tossed Caesar or mesclun salad and shaved Parmesan and Romano cheeses

• Cajun: Start with spicy shrimp or andouille sausage, add potatoes and onions and top with Jack and mozzarella cheeses

• Greek: Top a grilled pita crust with creamy feta cheese, kalamata olives, tomatoes, cucumber and red onion

• When adding herbs such as oregano or rosemary to a pizza, first gently rub the herbs to release the flavor oils.

For a crisp crust, bake pizzas at a high temperature (400° - 500°F) for 10-15 minutes or until the cheese begins to turn golden brown.

ANSWER — Ron Lieberman, Glen Rock, recently purchased an old mill along Newport Road in Lancaster County. It has a fine mill, race, and dam. The Liebermans would like to make their own electricity using water power and wanted to locate people and resources to establish a microhydro-electric generator? Thanks to Chris Peterson, Douglassville, who recommends "Home Power" magazine. Back issues have articles on microhydro and many advertise hydro suppliers in the magazine. No address was sent except the web site address which is www.homepower.com

ANSWER — In answer to John Lapp, who wanted to know how to use elderberries for medicinal purposes, E. from Nazereth writes that her mother made tea from elderberry flowers for medicinal use. She would cut the elderberry flowers in full bloom, dry them in the attic, and make a tea by seeping the dry flowers in hot water. Add honey or sugar for small children. She writes that it really works, but no mention of the ailment for which it works.

ANSWER — A previous request for a square metal cake pan with a lid was answered by a reader who said that they are available from Cake & Kandy Emporium, East Petersburg, PA 17520-1624. Sorry, but these are not available with lids at the Cake & Kandy Emporium A spokesperson for the company said that they have pans in assorted sizes but not with matching lids.

BUSINESS ◆ NEWS

Shephard To Head Initiative

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — Dairylea Cooperative Inc. has announced the formation of Agri-Edge Development, LLC, an agribusiness and economic development initiative.

Tom Shephard, formerly an attorney with the Syracuse-based law firm of Bond, Schoeneck & King, recently joined Dairylea to spearhead this new subsidiary of Dairylea.

"The primary goal of Agri-Edge Development is to foster growth in the Northeast agricultural industry. Specifically, this venture will enable farm and non-farm agricultural businesses to capture the economic benefits of growing their businesses, thereby resulting in increased vitality and stability in agriculture and the associated rural economies," said Dairylea Cooperative Chief Executive Officer Rick Smith. "Tom Shephard's wealth of agricultural knowledge and practical legal and business experience are an ideal match for a venture of this nature."

Tom Shephard

Shephard received his bachelor's degree from Cornell University, his master's degree in agricultural economics from Michigan State University, and his law degree from Albany Law School. Prior to practicing law, Shephard had worked for Cornell Cooperative Extension and for the Department of Agricultural Economics at Michigan State University.

To bring more cohesion to an often fragmented agricultural business sector, AgriEdge Development will create the methodology needed to identify, structure, secure financing and assist in the management of agricultural projects and business ventures. At the same time, it will develop and seek out opportunities for new agricultural business managers.

Agri-Edge Development has identified an initial list of potential projects that includes farm business start-ups and expansions, farm business transitions and turnarounds, processing facility upgrades, new technology development and implementation, niche product development, and on-farm processing.

Silo Company Announces Changes

CHAMBERSBURG (Franklin Co.) — Sollenberger Silos Corp. announced that John Swope is retiring after more than 33 years in the silo business. John's replacement is Ken Mansfield.

Swope and Mansfield have been traveling together for the past three months so the transfer can be as smooth as possible. Sollenberger has noted that Mansfield's more than 20 years with Badger has adequately prepared him for his new challenge with Star Silos. He will be selling poured concrete silos, manure systems, bunker silos, feed bunks, cattleguards, and equipment. He will also be developing a "dealer network" to represent Star Silos to help promote and sell concrete products.

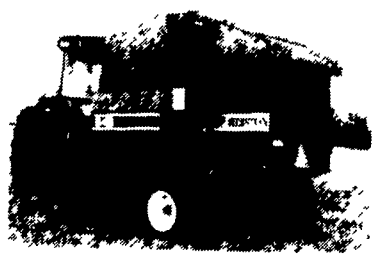
Company Introduces Round Baler

ATLANTA — One of the biggest advantages of round bale silage is the flexibility it offers hay producers. With silage bales, there's less dependence on the weather, less leaf loss and often great feed value in every bale.

Hesston offers the same kind of flexibility in its new Model 545 Silage Special round baler. Not only are bales consistent in size and weight for easy handling and shipping, but the 545 can be used to produce dry bales weighing up to 1,240 pounds and silage bales up to 2,400 pounds. The 545 also features an adjustable hitch that permits it to be used on all 65+ horsepower tractors that meet ASAE drawbar and PTO standards; plus, it can be operated on either 540 or, 1,000 rpm PTO input.

Finally, with its 46.5-inch wide bale chamber, the 545 is capable of making bales from 30 to 60 inches in diameter. Yet, the pickup measures a full 77.6 inches in width to gather in large windrows. The secret is a unique set of centering augers that move the crop to the bale chamber throat opening. There, a stuffer feeds dry and high-moisture hay with equal ease into the bale chamber. In addition to permitting the use of an extra wide pickup, the augers aid in filling the edges of the chamber, for solid, straight sided bales every time.



Producing bales up to 60 inches in diameter, the Hesston 545 Round Silage Baler offers a way to improve hay quality while reducing weather dependence when making hay.

The center augers also help increase capacity to the point that, despite its compact size, the 545 can bale up to 20 tons of dry hay per hour and up to 23 tons of silage hay per hour. Meanwhile, the hydraulic bale density control system which can be set for pressures between 2,000 and 2,500 psi, provides bale densities of up to 16 pounds in dry hay and 33 pounds in silage hay.

Still, the model 545 is easy to operate. The small diameter pickup is located near the front of the bale chamber, where it is in clear view of the operator. The small diameter, combined with close tine spacing, also ensures a clean sweep of the windrow, while a quick-attach wing guard assures smooth feeding. Pickup height is controlled with a simple pickup height crank, located on the left side of the machine. Adjustable gauge wheels are even standard equipment to keep the tines from hitting the ground in uneven terrain.

As the bale forms, six 6.97 inch-wide, endless belts flex over uneven surfaces to enclose more than 90 percent of the bale. A bale size indicator keeps the operator informed of the bale size. However, the 545 is also equipped with an overfill protection system should the bale chamber reach maximum capacity before it is wrapped.

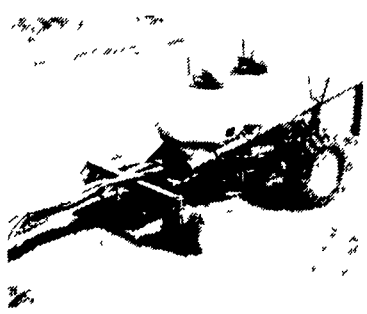
John Deere Introduces Commodity Cart

MOLINE, Ill. — John Deere has introduced a commodity cart offering the capacity, versatility, and sophisticated monitoring capability required to maximize the productivity of air seeding systems.

Designed by John Deere, the 1990 Commodity Cart offers a choice of tank sizes ranging from 195 to 430 bushels.

The 1900 Commodity Cart is compatible with all John Deere air seeding tools, which represent the broadest range of air seeding equipment systems in the industry, as well as the John Deere 985 Field Cultivator, 685 Chisel Plow, and other brands of tillage tools.

The new commodity cart is available in tow-behind and tow-between configurations. The tow-behind cart attaches to the rear of the seeding tool, and comes with front tandem caster wheels and flotation tires. A rear implement hitch is available for the tow-behind model for towing additional implements such as a roller packer or harrow. A third tank is available as an option for the tow-behind models and the 195-bushel tow-between model for more seed or more fertilizer capacity. The tow-between model attaches to the tractor drawbar ahead of the seeding tool so that the cart tire tracks are eliminated. It is especially suited for use on hillsides. A choice of four tires and wheels allow maximum flotation in a variety of soil conditions.



The John Deere 1900 Commodity Cart offers capacities ranging from 195 to 430 bushels.

The John Deere 1900 Commodity Cart is designed to be easy and convenient for the operator. It features a large platform and staircase for easy access to the tank lids, and large-diameter lids for easy filling. The tanks are made of strong, corrosion-resistant, high-density polyethylene.

All operator adjustments are located on the left side of the machine to provide easy operator access. Meters are also color coded and contained in a cartridge for easy removal.

Growers Give High Marks To Corn

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Surveyed growers gave excellent ratings for both weed control and crop safety to Monsanto's Roundup Ready Corn in its first year.

A Monsanto survey of growers ranked the Roundup Ready Corn weed control system much higher than competitive herbicide programs in both categories.

In a mid-season survey, members of Monsanto's Innovators program gave Roundup Ready Corn weed control system a composite score of 3.92 out of 4.0 for crop safety and 3.71 out of 4.0 for overall weed control. The Innovators gave their comparison programs composite scores of 3.46 for crop safety and 3.20 for overall weed control.

The Innovator program is one of the most comprehensive field trials ever. Monsanto is working with more than 200 growers from 11 states to track the first year of Roundup Ready Corn in comparison plots and other studies. The Innovators will work closely with Montsanto to compare weed control data, yield information, and return-on-investment results against traditional corn programs. Information gathered from the program will be used by Montsanto to refine recommendation and use guidelines for Roundup Ready Corn in future years.

Foxtails and velvetleaf were the most common weed problems in the survey. Each was listed by more than half the Innovators. Cockelbur was listed by nearly half the respondents. All three weeds were effectively controlled by Roundup Ultra™ herbicide in Roundup Ready Corn, as were other weeds such as lambsquarters, quackgrass, and smartweed.

Innovators were free to choose their own weed control program to test against the Roundup Ready Corn weed control systems.

Radial Maximizes Comfort

GREENVILLE, S.C. — The new BFGoodrich brand Power Radial farm tire from Michelin North America Inc. delivers a smooth ride in the field and on the road while reducing soil compaction and lowering fuel consumption.

The Power Radial's flexible sidewalls and unique center lug are keys to its comfortable ride. In addition to overall lug shape, the tire's 25 to 35 percent deeper R1W lug depth in comparison to traditional R1 structures keeps the tread free of soil for optimum traction and in-field stability.

The Power Radial's performance provides less rolling resistance to improve fuel economy. The tire's radial construction reduces lug squirm and increases ground contact patch area to minimize slippage and soil compaction. The Power Radial tread compound and architecture offer excellent puncture resistance, which protects it from stubble damage and extends the tire's life.

Chester 4-H Dairy Goat Roundup Results

HONEYBROOK (Chester Co.) — The Chester County 4-H dairy goat roundup was held recently at the Chester County Romano 4-H Center. A total of 22 goat projects were exhibited and five 4-H youth participated. This year the show was divided into two breed classes - Alpines and Other Breeds Combined.

Kristen Michalik of Sellersville did a fine job not only in placing the animals, but also instructing the 4-Hers in how to improve their showing and fitting techniques. In the Alpine class, Jessica Bohmier of New London, captured both senior and grand champion with her beautiful doe, Mocha, in the does 3-5 year of age class. She also received the reserve senior and reserve grand champion title with Magnolia, a doe in the 5 years of age and over class. Lilly, who showed in the 4 to 12 month old kid class, was the junior champion for Jessica, with Chad McKee of Coatesville winning reserve junior ribbon with Lushious, who also showed in the 4 to 12 month old class

Melissa Wertz of Downingtown won top honors in the all other breeds combined class when her 3 to 5 year old Toggenberg doe, Key Largo, was named senior and grand champion Veronica Bates of Gradyville received the reserve senior champion & reserve grand champion with Midnight, a doe in the 3-5 year old class. The junior champion in this division also went to Veronica with Puddles, a 12 to 24 month old kid. Veronica also received the reserve junior champion award with her 0 to 4 month old kid, Poppy Seed.

The highlight of the roundup was when the judge selected Jessica Bohmier's outstanding grand champion Alpine doe, Mocha, for best in show honors. Melissa Wertz received the reserve award with her Toggenberg doe, Key Largo

In the fitting and showing competition, Jessica Bohmier was the junior champion showman for members under 14 years old. Veronica Bates was named junior Champion Fitter for the same age group In the senior competition, Melissa Wertz received both champion showman and champion fitter awards In the first year division, Chad McKee received both champion showman and champion fitter awards.

In early September, 13 year old Jessica Bohmier, a dedicated 4-H member, died in a plane crash A memorial award in Jessica's name is being planned for the 4-H Goat Program in Chester County.

Penn State is an affirmative action, equal opportunity university. 4-H is open to all young people, 8-18 years old. For more information about the 4-H program in Chester County, contact Penn State Cooperative Extension at (610) 696-3500.

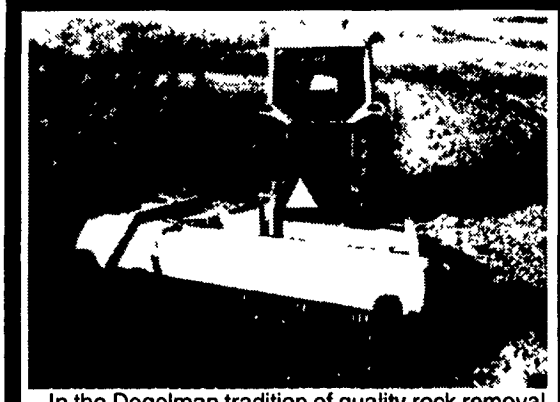
Purchase Heavy Duty Rock Collection Equipment From Binkley & Hurst Bros. Today! Remove Field Rock & Save Your Equipment. Check Our Finance Plans.

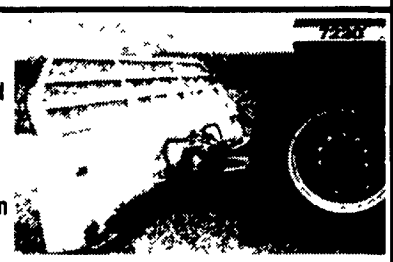


In the Degelman tradition of quality rock removal equipment, here is the RR1500 rock rake, another example of Degelman's continuing commitment to excellence.

The RR1500 rock rake includes a unique auto-fold system which provides safe, easy transport no wider than most tractors (8 feet in transport position) with full use of the 14 foot width in the working position. And with hydraulic angling, it can take full advantage of the 10 to 30 degree angling range.

Degelman Rock Rakes are excellent machines for grooming fairways and conditioning soil for the construction of golf courses. It leaves a beautiful final finish preparing the course for seeding. They are also used for reclaiming gravel on gravel roads. And the heavy duty construction and quality workmanship means that it is built to last.

Degelman



From Small Tractors to Large 4 Wheel Drive Sizes (Many Uses for a Heavy Duty Degelman Dozer Blade)

From leveling Silage in Bunks and Grading Excavation to Snow Removal, See Binkley & Hurst For Your Needs!

The SIGNATURE 6000 may be the only rock picker you'll ever need. This is the most rugged rock picker on the market. Some of the SIGNATURE 6000 features include:

Solid Shaft Grill Tines with Replaceable Grill Tips - This modern grill is easier to maintain; has longer life giving you less down time. The unique grill provides five feet of clean sifting and virtually jamless performance.

Grated Hopper Bottom - We use spring steel straps in the hopper, engineered to bounce back in shape.

Hydraulic Drive - The most popular drive on rock pickers is hydraulic which is standard on the 6000. We have incorporated a relief valve to take away the shock when disengaging the drive.

Reel Assembly - The three paddle reel has a large diameter, hard sufaced teeth and heavy duty paddles.

Flotation Tires - The 16.5L x 16.1 flotation tires are standard equipment and are a must to reduce soil compaction.

Swing Pole - Easy to maneuver in both working or transport position.

ADVANCED MACHINERY SERVICE

"The people at Hoober's are always there for you. If you have a problem, they're willing to work hard to help you out. It doesn't matter if it's service or parts. When you call, they do everything they can to get you going as soon as possible."

Kenneth Smith

During harvest is never a good time for a combine breakdown. Unfortunately, Kenneth Smith had that very problem . . . stuck in a field twenty miles from home with a combine needing repair. Ken called Hoober, Inc. and a Hoober combine service specialist responded. In less than 90 minutes, Hoober had Ken's combine fixed and he was back harvesting.

That's Advanced Machinery Service!

BIG BLOWER: QUICKLY CENTER-FILLS TALL SILOS.

The NEW "F62B" moves mountains of material thanks to its 12-inch feed auger. The auger is positioned at a 30-degree angle to the eight-paddle blower fan so crop moves quickly and efficiently right into the blower.

The heart of the Model F62B is its 60-inch-diameter blower fan. With a paddle tip speed of 8,460 feet per minute, the "F62B' blows corn silage at a capacity of up to 180 tons per hour and haylage at a capacity of up to 110 tons per hour.

Even though the "F62B" has a large-diameter blower fan and high-speed paddles, it's the quietest New Holland blower ever.

The next generation in conventional combining is here.

The MF 8680 Conventional takes conventional combining technology, performance, and comfort to the next level, while maintaining traditional Massey Ferguson durability and efficiency.

- Deluxe, centerline cab – large and comfortable with excellent all-around visiblity.
- Heavy-duty transmission – hydrostatic drive with 4-speed mechanical transmission.
- Innovative threshing and separating system – high-capacity system.
- Large grain tank and turret auger – huge 300-bu. (10,572-L) tank and 2.2 bu./sec. (78 L/sec.) unloading rate.
- Large, high-inertia cylinder – maintain high throughput in heavy, tough crops and conditions.
- Lateral header control – automatically tilts headers up to 4 degrees to closely follow the ground.
- More headers – for more choice, flexibility and capacity.
- More operating controls – easy-to-use gauges, monitors, and logically placed controls.
- More power – 260 hp Cummins engine.
- Rugged ground drive – dual drive wheels.
- Unique cleaning system – more efficient cleaning and better sidehill performance
- All-new cab – for operator comfort and to maintain productivity. MF 8680 has a modern, spacious, quiet cab with excellent visibility. An air-ride operator's seat and large buddy seat keep the driver and passenger comfortable, while a pressurized ventilation system provides filtered, cooled or heated air.
- Lighting – nine halogen lights completely illuminate even the widest headers for easy viewing of your fields both ahead and behind the header.
- Fieldstar™ yield monitor – available for 1998.

Where's your mustache?

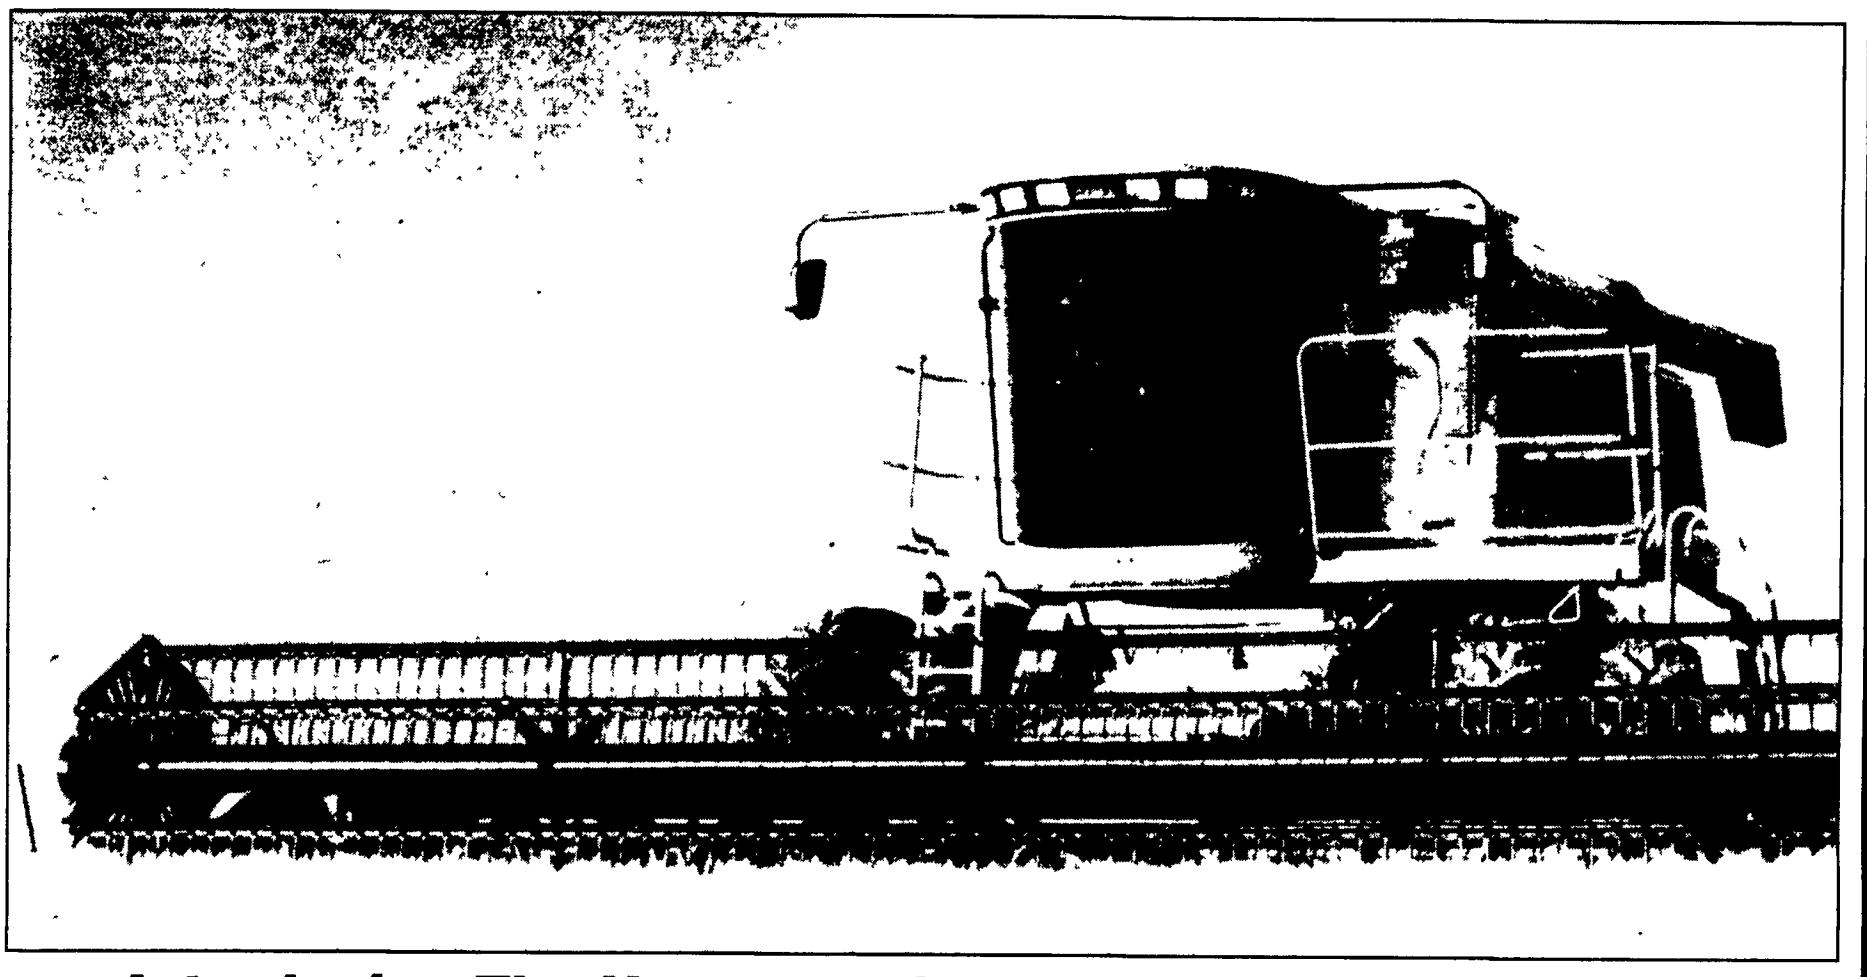
You've Never Seen A Harvest Like This.



Introducing The New 2300 Series Axial-Flow® Combines.

The three new 2300 Series combines are equipped with a high-visibility operator environment so revolutionary, everything else is history.

Wider, amazingly comfortable and designed with convenient cab-forward controls and instrumentation, this cab literally conforms to its occupant. An engineering landmark – Focalized Cab Mounting – minimizes motion for a smooth, steady ride. A multi-function propulsion lever puts most operations right in the palm of your hand. And an all-new right-hand console moves in tandem with your seat.

At the heart of the 2300 Series remains the strength of the Axial-Flow combine – the exclusive, patented rotor. And the recent addition of the Cross Flow™ cleaning fan provides a remarkably uniform, powerful airflow throughout the entire sieve area.

Why not stop by and see the new Case IH 2300 Series for yourself? We'll help you discover a better way of looking at your harvest.

If You're Not A Hoober Customer,

YOU'VE NEVER SEEN SERVICE LIKE HOOBER SERVICE!!!

WORKING HARDER Hoober's technicians earn your business every day with in-field combine repair. Hoober earns your business by carrying the largest supply of parts, and routinely gets parts quicker than the competition. When you're sitting during harvest time, you're losing money by the hour. Hoober works harder to get you back faster.

WORKING SMARTER Hoober's crew of combine technicians have been gaining experience for over 20 years. Hoober also invests in schooling at every opportunity, so no competitor has better trained technicians. Hoober also invented the Hoober-Boom, which is used for infield motor removal and has developed techniques that have surprised even the factory engineers. Hoober works smarter to get you back faster.

With ROTO-MIX IV you reduce fines, minimize shrinkage, and eliminate dead spots. The gentle tumbling action mixes fragile flaked and high-moisture ingredients without grinding, resulting in a fluffier, more nutritional ration.

The ROTO-MIX end-to-end .. side-to-side mixing system provides the most thorough TMR available, ensuring that your cattle will consume a balanced ration of nutrients in every pound of feed they eat.

NOTICE:

To all customers of Ben Zook/Vintage Blacksmith –

Some of you may have heard that we are moving out of the Lancaster Co. area This is true. My family and I will be relocating to Greenburr Gap Road in Greenburr, PA It's in the Sugar Valley area of Clinton Co

One of my greatest concerns was to find someone who would continue to provide the same kind of service that you have become accustomed to. He would need to be friendly (especially since the farrier is blamed for everything!)☺ teachable, and experienced.

Please welcome Daniel Stoltzfus from Leola. He is highly recommended by the veterinarian as well as myself, for regular and corrective shoeing Daniel will be working side-by-side with me for 1 year beginning this October 1, at the same Mine Road, Kinzers address. At the end of one year, he will then become the owner of Vintage Blacksmith On behalf of my wife, Barbie and I, we want to thank our customers for being one of the dearest blessings to us this past 6 years.

Please continue to call us for appointments at 717/422-8676.
